6. Buyer Beware!!!

A study of the variegated and intricated laws regulating the sacred art of writing.

By

Harav Sholom Yehuda Gross

Rabbi, Congregation Mogen Shaul of Holmin.
Rosh Yeshivah of Yeshiva and Kolel Beis Yeshaiyah Machon L’Horaah B'Schitos Uvdikos.
Author of over 70 Sforim (books).
We appeal to you not to disregard this book by putting it aside but to read it from time to time, as well as to disseminate it among relatives, neighbors, and friends. By doing so, you too will have a share in zikuy harabbim.

Please be aware that the publication of this booklet is very expensive. We would greatly appreciate it if everyone would contribute according to his ability, to enable us to continue our holy work.

May the L-rd grant us the ability to do His will with a pure heart, so that no pitfalls result from our work, G-d forbid, and that we should merit that G-d’s name be sanctified in the world through us, and that we should all live to see the ge’ulah sh’lemaḥ in our days, in the very near future. Amen.

1) ZICHRON ELYYOHU.
A guide for writing and purchasing Tefillin and Mezuzos. An extensive anthology, culled from the works of the early and late halachic authorities, relevant to the practical laws and customs, presented in a clear and concise manner. Such an anthology has never before been published in the English language.

2) SHA’AREI SHALOM
A guide encompassing entrances requiring mezuzos, the proper positioning mezuzohs, customs regarding inspection of mezuzos.

3) TOHORAS CHAIM
Embodying laws and customs of tevilah, (ritual immersion), for all Jews; especially for soferim (scribes) and shochtim (ritual slaughteres).

4) DARCHEILI MOYSHE
A handbook elucidating the methodology in performing mitzvos in the best possible manner. With the proper kavanah (intention) for their fulfillment.

5) YITZCHOCK YERANAN
Pictures displaying how one can make a kesher from Tefillin.

6) Tiferes Matisyahu
Concerning the Mitzvah of Mezuzah
This booklet contains alarming facts Mezuzahs all over the world. Its purpose is to warn the buyer to beware of purchasing invalid mezuzos. If one is careless in buying mezuzos, he endangers himself and his family both in this world and in the next. We cite numerous cases indicating this.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

No words can adequately express my tremendous debt of gratitude to the publisher of this sefer. The special efforts — consummate craftsmanship and genius — of my esteemed dear and devoted friend Reb Yitzchak Issac Gross shlita proprietor of Edison Lithographing and Printing Corp.

418 West 25 Street

are gratefully and deeply acknowledged. He envisioned the harbotzahs haTorah value of this sefer and undertook to single-handedly publish it with his renown high degree of professionalism, self-sacrificing devotion and loyalty. His talent and efforts in arts, graphics and production ensured a Book of outstanding beauty.

He has always warmly responded to my needs — with his time and talents — and has cooperated in every conceivable way to assure the stylistic and technical beauty of this completed work. The tangible fruits of his long and warm friendship are appreciated. This visually excellent work, both within and without, are in no small measure due to his extraordinary expertise, skill and dedication — which is clothed in kindness, patience, courtesy and kavod chachomim.

In merit for his love of Torah and his dedication to kiyum hamitzvohs may the Rebono Shel Olom grant him all that his good heart desires, arichas yomim v’shonim with health, together with his entire family... May all the Torah’s blessings be bestowed upon him. Amen.
Acknowledgements

I cherish this opportune time to express my sincere indebtedness...more than words could convey or acknowledge...to a most wonderful newly acquired Friend Mr. Alexander Tepfer, Shlita of Computerized Quality Separation, Inc.

145 Hudson Street, New York, New York 11013

His wholesome good naturedness, total dedication and expertheese combined with his helpful and high degree of talent in a highly specialized field enhanced the beauty of the illustrations in this book especially introducing the cover, and improved the quality of the text. His sympathethic understanding of my educational aims and his ability to transfer them to the printed page are very much appreciated beyond the scope of understanding.

All those whom this book will pick up and therefrom learn the holy words of the Al-Mighty (due to the attractiveness of the cover) will do solely due to the credit of Mr. Shiyah Alexander Tepfer, and as recompense for such I implore Heaven to grant him reward in accordance to benefit derived therefrom. In the merit of such dedication administered here, may the Al-Mighty bless his beloved ones, too, along with him with ariches yomim (long life), with health and happiness, Amen.

Special thanks are given to Mr. Joseph Dershowitz who has given of his time unselfishly during the course of preparation of this monograph with understanding, despite an extremely busy schedule he has assisted our timely needs and never sought excuses, He forged ahead with his G-d given artistic abilities to create the pictures presented herein. We wish him and his family much Yiddishe naches with all Biblical blessings of health, wealth naches and all that their good hearts desire.
ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Harav Sholom Yehudo Gross Shlita, is an internationally renowned author, a most distinguished and erudite Talmudical and halachic scholar and research specialist, having written on crucial issues impacting upon our obligatory daily mitzvoh observances concerning the Torah's Commandments dealing with, SHABBOS, MEZUZOS and TEFILLIN, KASHRUS, GAN EDEN (Paradise) etc., etc.

He has provided all the necessary information required to enable an individual to lead a true Jewish life.

His numerous and muti-faceted seforim, some 42 works relating to Jewish Law - encompass the diverse and wide-ranging areas of Jewish halacha.

Though a rav of the European school of thought - Rabbi Gross is extremely knowledgeable of the technological manifestations of the modern era. Living in a period of great discoveries which daily create new problems in many areas of Jewish Law, e.g., the field of Kashrus and other important areas.

Rabbi Gross is not satisfied with the thoroughness of his halachic findings; indeed he made inquiries by contacting various departments of the Federal and State governments, as well as physicians, veterinarians, etc., to discern and establish the FACTS.

First, he informs and advises what is best for us and then provides specific information based upon the dictums of our past sages and halachic authorities. In addition, where policies he has elicited direct governmental response to arrive at his own determination.

Every one of Rabbi Gross’ seforim has been acclaimed, in writing by the greatest Torah authorities, who concur with the results of his findings, and who make an impassioned plea to all rabbis and leaders to unite under one banner and support his quests and ideals.

It is the author’s sincerest desire and prayer that the reader will achieve an awakened and heightened spirituality enabling him to attain the stature of being a beloved child to our Father in Heaven, Is this not everybody’s wish?

I have seen many of the Seforim authored by Rabbi Sholom Yehudah Gross על שם, Rabbi of Holmin, from Brooklyn, with whom I am well acquainted. Among them are the works entitled: Achilath Matzoth ב' ישע, 7 vol.; Afiath HaMatzoth Hashalem, 3 vol.; Responaא זיכרון לחיים; Zivchei Tzedek; Oholei Yisroel; D'var Moshe; Mezuzath Sholom; Minchath Yehudah; and many others. They are all written in a manner, and form worthy of the attention of Torah scholars. The author, a Gaon, has organized and explained each topic with extensive erudition and profound understanding. These Seforim document the laws and ideas concerning many areas of Halacha in which observance has, unfortunately, become lax. Shortage of time has denied me the possibility to properly review his works. I, therefore, am not in a position to endorse his legal decisions. However, this Gaon, the author, may be relied upon since he has already displayed his ability in this field, and has authored his works without any ulterior motives, only for the honor of G-d and His Torah. I, therefore, hope that all observant Jews will assist the learned author of these books, for it is a great Mitzvah to encourage him and support him as much as possible.

I, therefore, affix my signature in honor of the Torah and those who study it, on the eighteenth day of Sivan, 5740.

In the author's previous works, among them Responsa Zivchei Zedek, Afiath Matzot, Achilas Matza B'Yisroel, Nefesh Yeshaya and Minchath Yehudah, letters of appreciation and support were printed from Geonim and Tzadikim of our generation, the authorities upon whom the House of Israel depends.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to take this opportunity to mention my dear mother, the personification of “A G-d fearing woman — she is to be praised.” Esther, the daughter of Rabbi Zev Wolf Mutzen, the shochet of Arad, (who passed away on the eighth day of Tammuz, 5715). I beseech the Almighty to grant her long life in health and happiness, and may she have nachas from her children and grandchildren engaged in learning Torah and fulfilling mitzvos, until the coming of the Messiah speedily and in our days, Amen.

May my beloved wife, Taube, the daughter of Rabbi Chaim Eliyahu Bittman, be blessed with the threefold priestly blessing, for exerting every effort to stand by my side and help me fulfill my aims; she enjoys immensely seeing me free to engage in the Torah, to write novelae, and to author seforim. May her reward from the L-rd, G-d of Israel, be complete, and may we both merit to raise our lovely children to learn Torah, to enter the Chupah, and to engage in good deeds. May our children: Yaakov Yeshayah Zev, Miriam Berochoh, Avrohom Chaim Elimelech, Chayah Soroh Feige, Pearl Malkah, Nissan Moishe, Dovid, Avigdor, Freide Bale, and Yoseph Yoel all merit long lives in happiness. I pray: Please, Almighty G-d, guard them from misfortunes and illnesses, and may we have much nachas from them. May they raise generations of upright Jews, blessed by G-d to be a glory to our holy forebears.

I also wish to take this opportunity to express gratitude to the members of my congregation, Congregation Mogen Shaul of Halmin, and especially to the scholars of the kolel “Beis Yeshayah” of Brooklyn, who are dedicated to the study of the laws of shechitah and bedikah. They are all Torah observers and magnanimous people, who assisted me greatly in the publication of this book and other books. May G-d bless them, as well as all others who have assisted me in my holy task and grant them all the desires of their hearts for good.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The author is proud to express his sincere debt to Harav Hagaon Sinai Halberstam, shlita, whose love of Torah and righteousness made him a beacon of inspiration, mentor and cherished friend. He has graciously made himself freely available despite that his time is meticulously budgeted in a tight and hectic schedule. Few authors have had the ability to call upon such an encyclopedic repository of genius — — b’kius in shass and poskim which are at his fingertips, hashkafa and erudition — — and a spring of original thought, scholarship and judgement, including a masterful editing capability.

He read the entire manuscript and clarified and elucidated many difficult statements and concepts of our Chazal. He has reviewed this work and allowed me the privilege to draw upon the phenomenally rare depth and exceptionally broad knowledge and clarity of thought which he possesses. His discriminating eye, incisive criticism and unselfish loyalty are in great measure responsible for this sefer, as well as many of the previous seforim that I have been blessed to have issued.

He, however, allowed me editorial discretion — — the freedom to decide what to include and what to omit — — and, therefore, he is absolved from any share of responsibility for the final redaction.

Words do not adequately express my appreciation, eternal gratification and thanks for his comments, criticisms, stylistic and conceptual observations, invaluable suggestions, and his guiding thoughts and interpretations. In merit of his self-sacrificing devotion to harbotzahs ha’Torah may Hashem reward him and his entire family with long-life, health, happiness, bracha v’hatzlacha and kol mele d’maytav. Amen.

We wish to commend Reb Chaim Shmuel Friedman without whose strenuous effort toward perfection in some of the art work here-in contained, this work would not have achieved the full appeal enjoyed by all. His Heavenly-granted artistic talent is vividly displayed in bringing out the fine points we strenuously derive to obtain. May his futur be bright together with his spouse and children to see true Yiddish nachas from them.
ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I express my appreciation to my dear brother, Harav Jacob Shlomo Gross, proprietor of whose utmost exertion produced a work that will be pleasing and appreciated by all who read it.

May he be blessed with all the Heavenly Blessings of goodness for all time. His reward is very great since it always will be with him.

He rightfully deserves significant admiration, praise and laudation beyond the scope of these few words for his forebearance in continuously abiding by our request in making changes and corrections so that this word become the product you now behold.

I pray that he, his wife and wonderful children be blessed manifold times for all his effort extended toward this project with Hatzloche, good health, long life, Yiddish nachas from their children and may his descendents reap the blessing promulgated by their father’s foresight. Last, but foremost, may Heaven shime forth upon him the wisdom and merit to further his efforts in similar manner and fashion in all his endeavors — — — since they all are performed purely L’SHAYM SHOMAIM and to increase K’VOD SHOMAYIM. The very few of those who give all of their time money and prayers that this work be accepted, honored, embraced, adopted and obeyed, should also be blessed with all good. This work was not produced as a hobby or past time, rather as the Gemorah states (Shabus 54) “Anyone capable of admonishing, reproaching or rebuking members of his household and does not do so is punished and considered culpable for the sins of the members of his household. Anyone capable of admonishing the people of his city, and does not do so is punished for the sins of the people of his city, anyone capable of admonishing the entire world and does not do so, is punished for the sins of the entire world.” (Gemorah Shabus 54a).

All who help toward this attainment with either money or talent will surely reap eternal blessings according to their effort dispensed. Can you work toward a greater aim than this?
A SONG OF THANKS

From the depths of our heart, we wish to express our sincere thanks to the great rabbis who gave generously of their time, and took the trouble to review this book, remark about it, and correct it according to their profound understanding. Moreover, they offered me appropriate advice on how to publish this book in the best possible manner, both the legal and ethical sections, so that it would be acceptable to the public. May the Al-mighty fulfill all their wishes for good, and may they prosper wherever they turn, and be privileged to disseminate the words of the Torah and sanctity it, in the vineyard of Israel untill the coming of the Messiah speedily and in our days, Amen.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE READER

This book is the result of much toil and hard work in collecting the scattered material, from various sources, one of the most difficult tasks in this field. The reader should know that any complaints he has, are on the books from which I quote these statements. I am clear of any blame, since all my work was to pour from one vessel into another. This statement is old, similar to that found in the introduction of Mesilath Yesharim.

I request you to study all the statements quoted in this book, the benefit you will derive from it is unfathomable, , with Hashem’s help, it is full of statements which will server as a remedy to the maladies of the soul and body. By casually skimming over the material, this benefit cannot be realized.

This holy tome is being published in the vernacular, in contrast with the practice of other generations, to print in the holy tongue, simply because it is human nature for one to be close to his mother tongue, the language he learned in his childhood. He will, therefore, find it easier to read in that language than in another language learned in later life, in which he is not so fluent.
Moreover, women and children will find it easy to read through. This is very essential for the desired result, that they take heed of the halachoth mentioned here, which apply to them. In addition to their own observance, they will assist their husbands and encourage them to follow suit, if it is not possible for the husbands to find time to persue this volume and study it thoroughly by themselves. In such cases, the wives will do the work for them.

May the words of Sefer Chasidim be fulfilled for us, that whoever repeats a statement made by those of earlier generations, they will pray for him and defend him in Heaven, (ch. 224).

May the merit of all the tzaddikim and saints quote here, with all the other tzaddikim stand us in good stead for us and for our posterity, so that we may cling to their ways and follow in their footsteps, to observer the holy practices transmitted to us by our forebears, and satisfy the Creator until the coming of our redeemer speedily and in our days, Amen.

Notice

We wish to note that we do not mean, G-d forbid, to find fault with any Jew. It is our mission to give assistance with practical examples from every day life to see that those Jews who truly wish to practice Judaism in the traditional manner, without compromise, but because of hurrying of lack of reflection do not notice the many pitfalls that come about daily, and therefore fail, are reminded that this is contrary to theire desires and principles. We wish to show and explain to them that this is contrary to the statues of the Torah, and that through small deviations we endanger the entire structure of Judaism.

Simultaneously, we indicate these laws from Rabbinical teachings that these regulations are not merely pious practices, preferable behavior, or things which should be done from the outset, but stringent laws and regulations.
We present here a part of the introduction of the Sefer, Eis Laasos by the famous tzaddik, Rabbi Hillel Lichtenstein of Kalamaye, Hungary, o.b.m., which we deem appropriate for our booklet.

"My dear sefer (book), that has cost me so much time from learning Torah and so many tears, I send you out into the world, and I exhort you to avoid neither large cities not small towns. Do not say or even think, that in the brazen, impudent world of today, "Who will look at me? Who will take heed of my message? Where will I be able to accomplish anything? On the contrary, I will cause people to commit more sins, since they will regard me with disdain and mock me."

"I say to you, dear sefer, that even according to your view, your mission will not be fruitless, for even if you are unsuccessful in your attempts to influence men, you may influence women, whose hearts are softer and who are more impressionable. Should you fail to influence the youth, you may influence elderly persons; if you fail to impress healthy people, you may impress those sick and wracked with pain, as well as those whose fortunes have taken a turn for the worse."

"I, however, am convinced that you will succeed in all your travels. Fear not! Don't worry! Do not be frightened off! Remember Abraham, concerning whom the Torah writes, "And he believed in G-d". His belief was as strong as the Rock of Gibraltar. That faith is deeply rooted in his descendants as an inheritance, so that their name is always "Maaminim b'ney maamminim" (believers, the children of believers). I, therefore, am convinced that you will be very successful. Many Jewish children will kiss you, and many will shed tears while reading you. Even if certain elements cast you to the ground and trample upon you, there will come a time when they themselves will pick you up and love you, because the time is drawing closer and closer when people will come to their senses and recognize the pure, unadulterated truth. Today, we find many who deviate from the teachings of the Torah, some completely and some partially. The morning of the redemption is at hand, when the ruach hatumah, the spirit of impurity, will be removed from the world, i.e. the yetzer hara will be completely eradicated, and the earth will be full of knowledge of the Lord, i.e. the people will come to recognize the complete unadulterated truth. Then everyone will strive to follow all the teachings of both the written and oral Torah, the Bible and the Talmud with neither alterations nor abbreviations, but in the precise manner that they were observed from time immemorial, not as some groups claim, that their “rabbis” have the power to alter or disregard the Shulchan Aruch. Then, people will not allow themselves to be misled by various types of misleaders, or to be enslaved to such leaders who mean only their own monetary gain and their own glory. The time will come when the Almighty will fulfill His promise to “circumcise” our hearts, to remove the obstructions that clog our hearts spiritually. As the Bible teaches us, falsity lasts but a moment, whereas the true tongue will be established forever. I, therefore, assure you that you have no need to fear. You will surely succeed in disseminating and expanding the truth.”

AN APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC

As everyone knows, printing costs are constantly rising, and it is virtually impossible to keep up with the expenses of printing, publishing, photographing, binding, mailing, etc.

We, therefore, appeal to you to help us with a generous contribution cover the expenses involved in the publication of this volume. By doing so, you will merit to be among those who lead the public to righteousness, as is indicated in Pele Yoetz: “Since it is usually difficult for the rabbis to print their works... it is proper for the wealthy... to open their hands generously to them, and with this, they will share alike with the rabbi... This share is in direct proportion to the nature of the tome, how necessary it is for the public, and according to the benefit the public can derive from it in serving the A-lmighty. If you reflect upon the matter, you will conclude that almost no monetary donation is equal in magnitude to this mitzvah, for every expenditure for a mitzvah is only on a one time basis whereas one who donates toward printing a sefer — his righteousness stands forever, for all generations. He leads the public to righteousness, and the merit of the public is ascribed to him... How meritorious and gracious is his lot! He acquired a good name; he acquired words of Torah; he acquired the life of the World to Come, and also this world...”

INTRODUCTION

Inspiration and Encouragement to Perform the Mitzvos of Tzitzis, Tefillin, and Mezuzos.

A hundred years ago, there lived in a small town in Russia, a very honest merchant who was quite well-to-do. On one occasion, he was obliged to go to the fair to purchase merchandise. In those days, there were no trains, only coaches. There was also no paper money, only silver rubles. Since the weather was inclement, a trip which usually took two days, took four days. By the time the merchant arrived at an inn, he was extremely exhausted, and he lay himself down to sleep. The rubles in his money-belt caused him great discomfort, making it impossible, for him to sleep. He thought and thought, until he hit upon a plan. He took off his belt and laid it on the table. Alongside it, he placed a piece of paper upon which he wrote, “Thou shall not steal”. Relieved of his burden, he was able to fall asleep immediately and slept soundly.

Meanwhile, another merchant came along and saw the money accompanied by the note, reading, “Thou shall not steal”. He took out half the money and wrote another note, reading, “And with thy brother shall thou live”. Then he immediately drove away.

Shortly afterward, a third merchant came along, and, seeing the money on the table, accompanied by the two notes, removed the remaining three hundred rubles, and left over a note, reading, “Thou shall not leave over of it until morning.” He, too, left immediately.

My friends! The Diaspora is compared to night, as the prophet says: “Watchman, what is new of the night? And during the dark exile, we sleep soundly, allowing even the commandment of “Thou shall not steal,” to be stolen. All of Judaism is made into a shambles, especially in America, this free land where everyone can be a Jew as the Torah demands where we do not feel the burden of the exile, and, thank G-d, everyone can earn a livelihood, — and here-in lie all the troubles; we forget our Creator, and we do not believe in Divine retribution. We forget the most precious mitzvos for which Jews have sacrificed their very lives for thousands of years. In our Torah, there is a mitzvoh of tzitzis, which includes the entire 613 mitzvos, for the mitzvoh of tzitzis is instrumental in bringing a Jew to fulfill all the commandments of the Torah, as Scripture states: “And you shall see it, (the tzitzis) and you shall remember all the commandments of the L-rd and perform them.” That means that when you look at the tzitzis, you will be reminded of all G-d’s commandments and you will be led to fulfill them all.

It is well-known that the Talmud (Menachos 43) state that one who fulfills the commandment of tzitzis merits to perceive the Shechinoh; tzitzis cures all illnesses; by observing the mitzoh of tzitzis one is guarded from destructive angels and demons.

Moreover, the mitzvoh of tzitzis has the property to guard a person from immorality, in addition to innumerable other properties which the mitzoh of tzitzis possesses. In fact, every mitzvoh protects its observers from sin, e.g. one who observes the mitzvoh of shatnes scrupulously, is protected from the sins of murder, theft, etc.

A woman who makes certain that her husband and her sons wear kosher tzitzis, merits great reward, as we find in Tractate Baba Bathra, that a box made of diamonds is reserved for the wife of Rabbi Chanina be Dosa, in which she will keep techeles, blue wool, for the tzitzis of the tzaddikim in the hereafter, since she engaged in this mitzvoh during her lifetime. Also, the Talmud (Berachos 47) tells us that one does not wear tzitzis is considered an ignorant person.

Let us estimate how many of the five and a half million Jews in America wear tzitzis, and if we assume that one percent do, how many of these tzitzis are kosher? Now, when we see the aforementioned reward for engaging in the mitzvoh of tzitzis, we can easily imagine the punishment meted out to those who treat this precious mitzvoh so lightly. The goyim, I’hov-deel, wear an emblem over their heart — yet we Jews, who are aware of the greatness of the mitzvoh of tzitzis, neglect it considerably. We cannot suspect the older people of not wearing tzitzis, but it grieves us to see that the new generation, the “wise guys” who chew gum in America, are unfortunately sinking into Gehinnom with their “wisdom.” They deny everything exalted and holy. May the L-rd forgive them.

But let us look a little deeper and speak a little more seriously to our coreligionists, the children of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in general, and to the American Jews especially, about the situation regarding mezuzoh. Answer me, my friend, where can we find a kosher mezuzoh in America? If I ask the “wise guys”, they will answer me, “We have no fear for demons. My father, “he will say, “lived in a village near Eishishok, and when he moved into a new dwelling where there was no mezuzoh, he would travel six miles to the city in order to obtain a mezuzoh. Without that, he was afraid to sleep. I however, have already slept in America for ten years without a mezuzoh, and I am not afraid. Better than that, I don’t recite Shma, yet I am not afraid.” Oy, wise guy!” We will answer you, “I won’t talk to you about demons because you yourself are the biggest demon. I’ll only ask you, if you were drowning in water, and someone saves you, would you thank him? And when you come home from the street, where thirty cars could have crushed you, and the Al-mighty saved you, do you not have cause to thank Him by kissing the mezuzoh? And when you go out into the street, do you know what king of misfortune may be in store for you? Do you not have to place your hand on the mezuzoh and say, "May G-d guard my going forth and my coming in from now and forever"?

Dear brother, look at our great men and learn a lesson from them. The Talmud teaches us (Avidah Zarah 11): When Onkelos the proselyte embraced the Jewish faith, his wealthy mother of royal blood strove, with all means, to bring him back to her religion. She sent him a delegation of prominent men to persuade him to return to his former religion, and if he would refuse to do so, to place him under arrest. As soon as they started conversing with him, he revealed to them the beauty and truth of the Jewish belief, and they joined him in conversion. The same occurred with a second delegation, and as well with a third. When she saw that she was unable to convince with dialogues, she resorted to another plan to arrest him. This time she sent a general with his troops and ordered them not to engage in any conversation with him, but to arrest him immediately. The general complied with her wishes, and, as soon as he entered, he arrested Onkelos and began to lead him out of the house. While walking past the mezuzoh, Onkelos laid his hand upon it and said, "May the L-rd guard my going out and my coming in, from this time forth and forever." Then he had already become a real Jew. The general saw this and wondered what it was all about. He asked Onkelos. "What is the meaning of this?" Onkelos replied, "Sit down and I will explain it to you." The general had completely forgotten his orders not to engage in conversation with Onkelos, and sat down to hear his explanation.
My dear reader, before I tell you Onkelo’s explanation, I will cite another incident which our Sages tell us:

The mother of the saintly Tanna, Rabbi Ishmael, came before the Sages and requested that they admonish her son for disobeying her. The Sages could not understand how it could be possible that the saintly Tanna Rabbi Ishmael did not observe the commandment of honoring his mother. They waited impatiently until he returned home from the academy. When he arrived, they asked him the reason for his mother’s complaint. Rabbi Ishmael replied, “My masters, against my will, I must tell you. My mother loves me so dearly; she seves me; she hands me everything I need when I arrive home from the academy. It is very unpleasant for me when my mother serves me. On the contrary, I should serve her. But since I noticed that she becomes upset when I do not allow her to serve me, and this is her pleasure, I nullify my will for the sake of her will. But, lately, she thought of something new. It is not enough for her that she serves me respectfully, but now she has decided to wash my feet and drink the water, I have decided not to allow that under any circumstances. Imagine that! My old mother should wash my feet and drink the water! In this, my masters, I disobey her.”

“Oh! Oh!” exclaimed the Sages. “How love disregards the rule of dignified conduct! Love has such a power that it leads people off the straight path. She loves you so much that she feels this is an honor.” The Sages started discussing whether he should allow her to wash his feet and drink the water. Their conclusion was that he must bear it and allow her to do what she wishes, since she derives satisfaction there-from. On the contrary, his refusal caused her so much pain and anguish that she came to complain about him, that he does not render the respect due her.
With this thought that true love disregards the rule of dignified conduct, we will return to listen to the Onkelo’s explanation concerning the Mezuzoh.

"You have seen, my dear sir," said Onkelos to the general, "the procedure in the royal court, how the king sits alone in his room and the guards stand by the door as regards the great King of the Universe, however, His love for His servants is so great that it disregards the rule of dignified conduct. They sit in their rooms, while His coat of arms — the mezuzoh — is their sentry by their door. (And behold, G-d was standing over him... and I will guard you wherever you go... May G-d watch your going out and your coming in from this time forth and forever more). Now I ask you, Have I chosen the good G-d?" The general was aghast at his intelligent explanation, He understood very well that Onkelos was right. He did not have the audacity to farm Onkelos in any way, and Onkelos was indeed saved from all harm. Moreover, his name was immortalized among Jews through his Targum Onkelos on the Torah.

We will now cite a story related in Talmud Yerushalmi (Peah ch. 1):

A wealthy man named Artevan, sent to Rabbenu Hakadosh (Rabbi Judah the prince), the compiler of the Mishnah, a precious diamond as a gift, and requested that Rabbenu Hakadosh reciprocate by sending him a gift, equal to his. The Rabbi sent him a mezuzoh. Artevan asked him, "I sent you and invaluable diamond, and you send me a gift that is worth a half-shekel? Rabbenu Hakadosh replied, "My property (Rabbenu Hakadosh was very wealthy) and your property cannot pay the value of a mezuzoh, as King Solomon says in Proverbs: ‘All your desirables cannot equal it.’ Moreover, our riches we must guard, whereas the mezuzoh (i.e. the Holy Name Shad-dai is the initials of Shomer dalthos Israel" — He guards the doors of Israel) guards us (when you sleep, it will watch over you...). Arteven was, however, a type similar to today's wise guys who dispense with the mezuzoh. He was, therefore, dissatisfied with Rebbe's reply, and Rebbe decided to send him a diamond.

Now, Arteven had an only daughter (Sh'iltos d'Rav Achai, Ekev), who was the apple of his eye, as is usual with wealthy people who have but one child. This only daughter took sick. They summoned the most skillful physicians, but alas, they were at a loss to cure her, and they despaired of saving her life. Once, Artevon was sitting by the sick bed on which his only daughter was lying near death. "Oh! What a false dream is the world with all its fortunes!" he said to himself. "How unsure a person is of his fortune and pleasures even one day! It seems that a short time ago I thought that the world belonged to me; I lived amidst such riches, — and suddenly, my world became dark. Of what use is all my wealth if the one who gave me such joy is being torn out of my arms and my heaven is falling down? Oh! Now I realize the truth of the words of my good friend, Rabbi Judah the prince. Now I understand what he explained to me that the mezuzoh teaches us that all worldly pleasures are not permanent and that only the pleasures of knowledge and G-dliness are permanent and unending, and no one has the power to deprive these pleasures. On the contrary, the less I engage in mundane pleasures, the more my spiritual pleasures increase (as is related of an intelligent, educated woman in Spain, whose two children were slain before her very eyes. She justified the tragedy inflicted upon her by the Creator, and said, "Good G-d! Until now, I loved You with only half a heart, since the second half of my heart was occupied with love for my children, but now that my heart has been relieved of the love for my children, it will become full with love for You, dear G-d! Now I will fulfill the commandment, “And you shall love the L-rd your G-d with all your heart.” But since I am so far from spiritual pleasure, there is no remedy to cure my wounds, since I am so far from You, O L-rd! I never make mention Your Name. How can I have the audacity to turn to You, to beg You to spare my dear child? She is the very light of my eyes! Oh! How dark my world has become!” At these words a stream of tears flowed from his eyes, and he almost fell into a faint, seeing how she was suffering, twisting, and turning, and becoming moribund. “I acknowledge my error,” he said to himself, “G-d is just and His judgment is just. He wrote in the Torah, “And it shall come to pass, if you heed My commandments... to love the L-rd your G-d... And you shall write them on the doorposts of your house and upon your gates. In order that your days and the days of your children be lengthened upon the land... From this, we deduce the opposite as well, that if you do not keep these commandments, your children will not live long, G-d forbid! Alas! I have forsaken the pleasant ways of the Torah! I have no mezuzoh on my doorposts. Instead, I have all sorts of toys and nonsense in my house, in order to decorate my rooms. But such a fine ornament as a mezuzoh I have discarded and have not even wanted to look at it. Oh! How foolish we rich people are! We are like little children who play with dolls, yet do not know the value of diamonds.

This is my punishment, that my precious flower in being plucked just in her blooming years. Oh! Everything is dark before me. I, myself, am the murderer of my own child. Dear G-d! I regret my behavior and will follow the true Jewish way from this day on, and forevermore.

Upon uttering these words, he approached the closet, took out the mezuzoh Rabbenu Hakadosh had given him, and attached it to his doorpost. At that very moment, the sick girl stopped twitching and opened her eyes. "Oh!" Artevon cried, "Great G-d, Your wonder is indescribable; You bring the dead back to life. I am not in a position to thank You for the great gift that You in Your kindness have bestowed upon me. Oh! How pleasant and lovely are Your commandments! They are the elixir of life. When no doctor is able to cure a malady, Your sweet mitzvos cure it, especially Your endavor that others keep it as well. I will devote one day a year to go from house to house to inspect the mezuzos, to determine whether or not they are kosher, and I will give a kosher mezuzoh to anyone who has an invalid one or none at all. — And so it was, as the Rabbis tell us (Yoma 11) of an incident that Artevon was inspecting mezuzos, and when he was arrested doing so, he paid his fine of thousands of gulden, but resumed his work. After this story, when Rabbenu Hakadosh realized that Artevon understood the value of the mezuzoh, he did not return the diamond to him.

Dear readers, Rabbenu Hakadosh knew the vulgar tastes of today's wealthy people, that they hang all sorts of nonsense, trash, sculptures, portraits, and other pictures in their rooms, but not a mezuzoh. Therefore, Rebbi sent Artevon a mezuzoh, in order to call his attention to the fact that this is higher than all his ornaments and diamonds, and that he need not be ashamed of it. On the contrary, if he had any intelligence, he would be proud to have G-d's coat-of-arms shining on his house, as Onkelos the proselyte explained.

Now, my dear friends, let us discuss further, and we will tell you a wonderful story that the Midrash tells about Onkelos. When he decided to go from Rome to Eretz Israel to become converted to Judaism, he feared his uncle, Hadrian. The Jews were then under the government of Rome. He went to his royal uncle to take leave, with an excuse that he wanted to travel around the world for commerce. Hadrian said to him, "My son, my royal treasury is at your disposal. You may take as much money as you wish. Incidentally, what kind of business do you intend to do?" asked Hadrian. "You should especially deal with merchandise whose price has fallen and is very cheap at present. Sooner or later, the price will rise, and you will profit handsomely."

"Very well, my royal uncle," said Onkelos, and left for the Holy Land. He had himself circumcised and learned much Torah from the Tannaites, Rabbi Eliezer and Rabbi Joshua. When Hadrian heard this, he called Onkelos to him and asked him, "Where did you get the idea to do this?"

Now, my dear friends, when we ponder about the story of Onkelos the proselyte and Artevon, who saw the real truth when the world had sunk so low, we will cling steadfastly to the mitzvah of mezuzoh, which is so conspicuous, with the name "Shad-dai", crying to us, "Stop! Enough!" Yes, we must engage in commerce and conduct a world, but we must not fall asleep in its bosom; do not forget that you stand in the vestibule of the royal palace, which is open only at certain times, but you do not know how long that time will be. Therefore, you must always obey what I tell you: And these words that I command you today, shall be upon your heart. Everything you do, do with sincerity. Then, the result will be good habits, admirable character traits, and pure ethics. Then you and your children will merit long life, with fortune and happiness, and will live a pure heavenly life in this world, and then you will achieve the real life in both worlds.

My friends, I will tell you a story: A very wealthy man had an only daughter. She became engaged to a very fine man, and was happily married. Her father took a voyage around the world for a few years. when he returned, he went to visit his daughter, whom he found in a deplorable condition. Her house was dark and damp; her clothes were torn. All in all, she lived in dire poverty. Her father was very upset and asked his daughter, “My dearest daughter, what do you need?” “Father dear,” replied his daughter, “I am perfectly satisfied. I have a very good husband. He obeys everything I tell him. When I say ‘day’, it is day, and when I say ‘night’, it is night. He treats me very well; he never insults me. Unfortunately, we have a very meager income. That’s why I look as you find me.”

When the rich father heard this, he said, “Darling daughter, if your fate depends upon that, I will give your husband as much money as he wants.” The wealthy father took out his checkbook, wrote out a check for his son-in-law, and left for several years. When he returned, he found his daughter living in expensive quarters, in her own house. She was wearing expensive clothing and bedecked with diamonds and jewels. The rich father was very happy and said to his daughter, “Dear child, now you have nothing to complain about. You are living comfortably. You are wealthy. What do you need now?”

This time his daughter replied with a plaintive voice, “Father dear, now I am much worse off than before, when I went around dressed in tatters, and lived in a dark flat. Then my husband treated me well; he loved me and obeyed my every whim. But now, he beats me; he virtually tears me apart. Whatever I say, he says the opposite. And if you are wondering why I go with such expensive jewelry and wear such fancy dresses, I will tell you. My husband doesn’t buy me these things to make me happy. He does it because he is ashamed for his friends, but as far as I am concerned, he would let me live in a cellar or an attic. He wouldn’t care if I would wear tattered clothes.”

When her father heard this, he was dumbstruck. “So, my daughter, when your husband was poor, he was good. Right? So I will demand my money of him and make him poor again. Then he’ll treat you well.”

My friends, have you heard the story? Do you know who the wealthy man is? That is the Al-Mighty, to Whom all wealth belongs. The daughter, in this case, is our Holy Torah, and the husband is the Jewish people. When the Creator visited — so to speak — His daughter in Europe and found her in an impoverished state, He recognized that the cause was the critical condition of her husband, the Jewish people. So G-d wrote out a check, i.e., He directed them to go to America, where they would be able to earn a livelihood. When we came here to this golden land, and G-d made everyone fortunate; i.e., no one suffers from the type of poverty that existed in Europe, we tear pieces from the Torah, we try to erase many sections from it. We refuse to obey. What the Torah says is treif, we say is kosher. What the Torah says is chelev, we say, that it is only a custom to remove it. You have an excuse, I have to earn a living... and because of that you profane all the Torah’s sanctities. You don’t want to know about tzitzzis, nor about Tefillin and Mezuzzos, not to be quiet during chazarath hashatz, kaddish, the reading of the Torah, etc.

Now, dear brethren, I beg of you, take heed of everything I told you, and wake up from your lethargy into which you have fallen, i.e., your neglect of fulfilling Torah and mitzvos, and performing good deeds. But, alas! Not everyone is able to awaken himself from his lethargy. Most modern, Yes, they wake up only when it is too late. A very appropriate story is told about this matter.

Once a prominent man pleased a king. As a token of gratitude, the king decided to bestow fortune upon him. But first, he wanted to determine whether the man was worthy of his favors. In order to ascertain this, he gave him a simple test. He opened the treasure rooms for him and invited him to stroll through them for seven hours and to help himself to the most precious antiques found there. In the vestibule of the treasure house, he had placed a music box that played beautiful music, so that anyone who heard it became enchanted by it. The king ordered the door-keeper of the treasure house that, as soon as the guest would enter the vestibule of the music box, should begin to play. The door-keeper followed the king’s order and, as soon as the guest entered, the music box commenced to play. The guest was very pleased by the sweet music, and became engrossed in the melody. He stood there for hour after hour. He did not realize that time was passing, until the seven hours allotted him by the king, were over. A minute before the time limit, the music box stopped playing. The guest awoke from his sweet sleep and wanted to go into the king’s treasure house to help himself to the royal treasures. Just then the door of the treasure house slammed shut, and a voice called out, “Where were you until now? Why did you forget what we told you before, that the king's treasure house would be open for you for just seven hours? The whole seven hours you had time to consider everything and take whatever your heart desired. Yet you went into a daze, thinking about the concert of the music-box. That music box was placed there to test you whether you have in mind the reason you were admitted to the treasure house, and if you were distracted by the music, and you missed this opportunity, whose fault is it? Because of your levity, you missed everything."

You can imagine how the person regretted his mistake of destroying his chances to acquire such a vast fortune, with which he could live comfortably for the rest of his life and still leave over a handsome inheritance for his children and grandchildren.

The same applies to a person's coming into this world: For seventy years he is sent down to gather holy thoughts and to accumulate Torah studies, mitzvos, and good deeds (which are the real antiques of the King's treasure house). Eventually, he becomes absorbed in gratifying his worldly lusts (this is the beautiful music box plays) and he puts his soul to sleep until his dying day, when the music box stops giving its concert. When a person lies on his death bed, he has no more desires, and he thinks about all the time he wasted during his lifetime. All the fruit of his labor under the sun goes to others, many times to his enemy, and for himself he takes along nothing. Alas! How he would want to get back some time! But, it is already too late. The royal treasure house is closed, and no begging or crying will avail him. For all his property, he cannot buy even five minutes of life. We cannot imagine how one is grieved at that time. From that pain alone, he can die.

Therefore, let us return to G-d... let Him preserve us so that we may live before Him.
ZICHRON
ELY'YOHU

A guide for writing and purchasing tefillin, and mezuzos. An extensive anthology, culled from the works of the early and late halachic authorities, relevant to the laws practical laws and customs, presented in a clear and concise manner.

Such a anthology has never before been published in the English Language.

This work, illuminates the way for anyone wishing to enter this field, to inform him of the problems that beset his path, and the necessary steps to fulfill these mitzvos properly and to teach others who wish to enter this field.

Moreover, it instructs the buyer what to beware of when purchasing tefillin and mezuzos, and how to fulfill these mitzvos in the best possible manner.
INTRODUCTION

Unfortunately, laxity and chaos prevail in the observance of the mitzvah of mezuzoh all over the world. Whereas writing mezudos is, according to the Torah, a holy pursuit, to be practiced by learned, G-d-fearing men, it has now become greatly commercialized. Many youths, unlearned in this field, and bereft of the fear of G-d, are now engaged in writing mezuzos. Since the populace is unfamiliar with the proper formation of the letters, in fact, even the scholars are unfamiliar, it is fairly easy to deceive the unsuspecting customer, who, innocently, purchases invalid mezuzos, represented as kosher.

The results are, indeed, tragic. Not only do many Jews fail to fulfill the mitzvos of tefillin and mezuzos all their lives, but, additionally, they are subject to the horrible punishments visited upon them from Heaven, as is elaborated upon in the codes, and witnessed daily.

I have, therefore, taken upon myself to publicize this matter, both by printing leaflets and posters and by publishing books concerning this situation.

To inform those who are unfamiliar and to remind those who are, of the gravity of the situation, I cite many incidents that have occurred during the past five decades, as well as those that have occurred during our own lifetime, numerous stories of various misfortunes that have befallen our brethren, who have inadvertently, failed to fulfill this precious mitzvah, even instances in which the victims were in no way to be blamed for this neglect.

In this booklet, I point out all these facts, trusting that our brethren will be aroused to be conscientious in their observance of this commandment. Additionally, I suggest various plans to make this possible.

In the merit of observing this mitzvah, the Guardian of Israel will protect us from all misfortunes, and we will live to experience the rebuilding of Zion and Jerusalem in the near future, Amen.
Chapter 1

The greatness and Significance of the Mitzvoh of Tefillin

1) The mitzvah of tefillin is equal to all the mitzvos of the Torah.¹

2) “Everyone who puts on tefillin is blessed with longevity.

3) “One who recites Shma Yisrael and Shmoneh Esrai with tallis and tefillin is assured a share in the World to Come?”. It is considered as though he had built an altar and offered sacrifices upon it.³

4) He is “assured that the fires of Gehinom will have no effect on him.”⁴ and that “all his sins will be forgiven”.

5) All of these assurances are valid only if one wears them with cleanliness,⁶ and is careful not to converse or work while wearing tefillin.⁷

6) One who does not put on tefillin is considered a sinner.⁸ and twelve months after his demise his body is destroyed, his soul is burned, and the ashes are scattered under the feet of the righteous.⁸ This punishment is meted out even if he neglected to wear them but one day.⁹

Unfortunately, we find people today who, although adhering to Judaism and observant in its tenets, are very lax. At times days can pass in which they do not put on tefillin.
Many of them do not realize the true gravity of the situation, or comprehend the severe punishment of eternal reproachment. Individuals living in a community where it is a custom to wear Rabbenu Tam’s Tefillin, and do not, may be accused by Satan and regarded as a sinner.¹⁰

7) Those wearing tefilling, but making jest (treating lightly) of the retzuoth (leather strips) are equivalent to those who altogether refrain from wearing the tefillin entirely.¹¹

8) One who does not put on tefillin is regarded as a sinner even if it is the /// by the fact that he overate, and has an upset stomach, or an unclean body, under which circumstances he is, indeed, exempt from putting on tefillin.¹² Nevertheless, since he brought this ailment upon himself through overindulgence, he is considered a sinner, who is severely punished.¹³

We are taught here a valuable lesson applicable in many cases. If one goes outside during the winter, without sufficient clothing, and catches a cold and runs a fever, which brings him much spiritual loss, neglect of studying Torah, neglect of praying with a minyan (congregation), neglect of other mitzvos he should have fulfilled, although he excuses himself with the fact that he found it impossible to fulfill these mitzvoth, this is merely a self-comporting excuse. In fact, however, since he brought this disability upon himself, he is held accountable for neglecting all these mitzvos.¹⁴

9) If we keep the mitzvah of tefillin as we should, on the Yom hadin (day of judgment), the zechusim (merits) will outweigh the sins. Otherwise, the sins will outweigh the merits, since there is no greater mitzvath asay (positive mitzvah) in the Torah then tefillin. Therefore, every male over the age of thirteen must be careful to properly fulfill the mitzvah of tefillin.\textsuperscript{15}

10) Some authorities indicate that Rabbenu Tam’s tefillin possess the property of assuring longevity.\textsuperscript{17} Others maintain that both Rashi’s and Rabbenu Tam’s tefillin possess the same property.\textsuperscript{18}

11) For one who places tefillin on his head and arm, a voice emanates from all the chayos, ophannim, seraphim, and angels who are appointed over the prayers, and announce: “Give honor to the image of the King,” referring to the one who puts on the tefillin.\textsuperscript{19}

12) The first time one puts on tefillin, (on the day of his bar-mitzvah), a brilliance and sensation of sanctity envelopes him\textsuperscript{20}.

13) The tefillin must be kept in a beautiful container, \textsuperscript{21} that is, in a beautiful bag.\textsuperscript{22}

14) “If one is ridiculed or scorned because of his wearing a tallis and tefillin, it is considered as though he had died a martyr’s death.”\textsuperscript{23}

Chapter 2

THE PENALTIES FOR ONE WHO DOES NOT PUT ON TEFILLIN

1) “If one does not put on tefillin, a fire descends upon because him from above\textsuperscript{1}, he will not be resurrected with the rest of the dead?" his sins outweigh his zechusim (merits).\textsuperscript{3}

2) “One who neglected to put on tallis and tefillin even one day, or did not recite Shma or pray one day, should fast sixty-one days to atone for his shortcoming.”

3) “The wearing of Tefillin atones for arrogance and murder.”\textsuperscript{6}
4) “One who is conscientious in his observance of the mitzvah of tefillin, his zechusim (merits) will outweigh his avayros (sins), he will be delivered from peril, and his prayers are accepted.

Chapter 3
PITFALLS IN THE FIELD OF TEFILLIN, AND MEZUZOS

1) It is obvious that all the good promises for fulfilling the mitzvah of tefillin apply only if one wears tefillin that are kosher and acceptable according to the halacha (law). There are, unfortunately, many pitfalls within the realm of tefillin mezuzos and sifrei Torah. I have, therefore, undertaken to inform the public what can and does occur, along with practical advice, as how to beware of pitfalls and avoid living a lifetime devoid of the precious mitzvos of tefillin and mezuzah.

2) In the introduction of Tikkun Tefillin we read: “I have seen a most serious and disturbing malady. Since the day I parted from my master, Rabbi Meir of Rothenburg, I have neither encountered nor found anyone conscientious in his observance of the three mitzvos of tzitzis, tefillin, and mezuzah, each of which is equal to the entire Torah and all its commandments, except for Rabbi Peretz of Corville, the pious Rabbi Zuslan, and Rabbi Malkiel of Hegmonia...”

3) The Sefer Baruch She’amar, states, “Today, our sins have brought us to such a low degree of piety, that we neglect to inspect our tefillin and mezuzos even after one hundred years.” This is so because nobody cares enough to try to fulfill these mitzvos properly. The result is that we live almost our entire lives without tefillin and without mezuzos. Therefore, every G-d-fearing person should demand to have his mezuzos and tefillin inspected by an authorized and trustworthy sofer (scribe), in order to be sure that he fulfills these mitzvos according to halacha (law).

4) We find a similar quotation in the Midrash, that the bonus for the proper observing of the Mitzvah of tefillin is that it is considered as though one has observed the entire Torah, and has studied Torah day and night. Accordingly, this is a golden opportunity which we should not neglect. Think of the funds people expend to support the study of the Torah, or how much they pay for a mitzvah. How much more so when we can achieve everything the study of Torah and the fulfillment of all mitzvos in one religious practice: the Mitzvah of tefillin. Even if we would have to pay one thousand dollars for it, it would be inexpensive, certainly, today, when we can obtain properly inspected tefillin, including the parshios (parchment scrolls) and the retzuot (leather thongs), for less then five hundred dollars.

5) “Unfortunately, every person with some calligraphic skill and who can write a little of the Torah script, becomes ordained as a sofer and writes. Being unaware of his incapability, people rely on him. Is there any wonder that our prayers are not accepted in Heaven?”

6) “Many people, because they are not careful, wear invalid tefillin.” Therefore, everyone must be careful about his tefillin, that their state of perfect squareness should not be impaired, moreover, they should be purchased from reliable soferim, only since, unfortunately, there are unreliable soferim who do not exercise the proper care so indispensable for this particular work their customers who wear their product to considered as having gone without tefillin during their entire lifetime, and a result of which cause the populace to recite blessings in vain every day.

7) One Rabbi wrote that he once went on an errand to a city (....) where he saw more than (50 Soferim, of when no more than three were observant Jews. The remaining ones were ignorant people, devoid of the fear of Hashem who sat bareheaded and wrote parshiyos of tefillin. Their writing was, nevertheless, beautiful and skilled. This observance taught me the lesson that one must, therefore, thoroughly investigate personal background of the sofer, and not depend solely on the quality or beauty of the script.

8) One Gaon spoke out against terrible pitfalls in the realm of tefillin. He claimed that, almost all tefillin are invalid. both those purchased from itinerants and those purchased in bookstores.” The only way to be certain of obtaining kosher tefillin is to ask an orthodox rabbi for the name of a reliable sofer.

9) Many people complain that soferim charge high prices for tefillin and mezuzos, while in bookstores they are comparatively cheap.” The truth of the matter is that if tefillin and mezuzos are kosher, they must be expensive (unless the sofer or the battim-maker wishes to donate from his own pocket for every parshah or bayis [cube compartment] he sells; something inconceivable and illogical). On the other hand, mass-produced tefillin are surely cheaper; but everyone knows that they are undoubtedly invalid. He presents an analogy
10) Were a great professor to arrive, announcing his selling of the elixir of life, a medicine guaranteed to prolong one’s life. Surely, everyone would buy it, because life is dear to all. They would do so even if it cost them half of their possessions. Then he concluded is it not more true concerning tefillin and mezuzos, about which the holy Torah writes: In order that your days and the days of your children be lengthened\textsuperscript{12}, should we not change our attitude.

In this case, we should surely not be stingy or economical, since the heaven assured remedy is certain\textsuperscript{12}.

11) Today, when the power of faith is, unfortunately, very weak, and scribes multiply like locusts, there are cities in which there are hundreds of them, the majority of whom are nonobservant Jews. From there, the plague has spread to other cities. Very cheap tefillin and mezuzos are sold, and new soferim are hired to teach ignorant youths, totally devoid of the fear of Hashem, how to write in a beautiful Biblical script and then they proceed to sell tefillin and mezuzos for a pittance — — because they write many every day. Undoubtedly, they do not sanctify Hashem’s names, and their entire work bears no sanctity. We have no legal capability to invalidate the Parshiyos since the light-headedness they experience when they write is hidden within their hearts. However, everyone whose heart is touched by the fear of Hashem should not buy tefillin or mezuzos except from a sofer known as a truly G-d-fearing man.

The same applies to writing a sefer Torah\textsuperscript{13}.

12) If a sofer sells tefillin in which the binding hairs do not protrude from the head tefillin compartment we may not recite a bracha (blessing) over his tefillin until we examine him to ascertain whether he is well-versed, and whether he treats the laws of tefillin in the manner in which the situation warrants or lightly,\textsuperscript{14} in essence, if we find any carelessness in any sofer’s work, either in his tefillin, mezuzos, or in the battim (compartments), we may no longer purchase these religious objects from him, until we determine his character.

13) In the event someone who wrote a sefer Torahos is later found to be and apostate, we may assume, halachically speaking that until now he was a believer, that his corruption and apostacy and now he deteriorated. However, concerning these wicked people, it is most likely that they were heretics prior to the discovering of their apostacy, especially in this generation, when faith is so weak.\(^{15}\)

14) The Minchas Eleazer writes\(^{16}\): that, ‘while his father\(^{17}\) was still living, action was taken concerning sifrei Torah, tefillin, and mezuzos coming from Galicia, which were being spread throughout the entire country. They discovered that honest, reliable soferim were very scarce and that the overwhelming majority of the soferim were very lax in their observance of the tenets of Judaism.’

15) It is related concerning Slonim (Lithuania), a large city in Lithuania, which disseminated throughout the world sifrei Torah, tefillin, and mezuzos. Rabbi Joseph of Slonim\(^{18}\), was questioned concerning the religious articles emanating from Slonim and distributed world-wide. The Rabbi replied briefly and clearly: all sifrei Torah, tefillin, and mezuzos originating in Slonim should be discarded into the garbage, for they were absolutely invalid. The so-called scribes were apostated who infracted the laws of the Torah L’hachis (for spite). As far as sanctifying the Shaymos (holy names) in the sefer Torah, they did not believe in that!

He further stated: I became aware that in Budapest and Vienna the best sifrei Torah sold were Slonimer. One’s ears tingle just from hearing this. Hearken dear brethren, and understand by yourselves, that the exile is so long only because most Jewish communities sin through the utilization of invalid sifrei Torah, . Not only do they fail to wear tefillin, but they recite thousands of brachot (blessings) in vain over invalid tefillin, Sifrei Torah, and upon affixing invalid mezuzos. Moreover, thousands of Jews live their entire lives without having had a valid mezuzo affixed to their door posts, without hearing the reading of a kosher sefer Torah etc.\(^6\)

16) “Concerning mezuzos, too, one must be careful that they are kosher, and know from whom they are purchased since there are soferim who are lax in their mitzvah observances, and hire minors (children) to write tefillin and mezuzos. These are indisputably invalid; and even more irritating is that the cause of invalidity cannot be recognized\(^9\).

Therefore, we may not purchase from ordinary soferim, and especially not from merchants who buy from others, since each one believes the other only in order to make a dollar! One must buy only from a sofer who is known as an observant Jew.

18) Another very common Transgression is that some people who have Posul (invalid) sifrei Torah in synagogues, refuse to have the scriptured errors corrected. The congregation claims that correcting the scrolls is the obligation of the owners, since it is a great expense for the congregation! to correct all the scrolls. On the other hand, although to each individual owner it is not a big expense, nevertheless erroneous) sefer Torah for more than thirty days\textsuperscript{20}. the Gemara tells us\textsuperscript{21} that “on Yom Kippur everyone would display his sefer Torah and take pride in the beautiful way it was written, the script, the ink, the parchment, etc. What will these people answer on the Yom Hadin day of judgment when they allow their sifrei Torah to remain invalid because of financial considerations\textsuperscript{22}?

19) It is, therefore, suggested that a commitee be formed in each synagogue for the sole purpose of raising funds for repairing all sifrei Torah\textsuperscript{23}.

Chapter 4
Instruction for Soferim, Battim-Makers, Dealers and Layman

1) A sofer must be exceptionally pious. This includes both the scribe (who writes the Tefillin) as well as the one who makes the battim. It is in every city and province incumbent upon those who have the power (i.e. the leaders of the generation) to appoint the scribes who should write Tefillin, Sifrei Torahs and Mezuzos. These individuals should be capable, truthful learned G-d fearing and men who abhor monetary gain, just as they engage shochtim (ritual slaughterers) and bodkim (ritual examiners) We should not trust any soferim whose only concern is to increase their business activities by making beautiful Tefillin. Indeed, beautifying a Mitzvah is a praiseworthy activity, however, if it is only undertaken in conjunction with the desire and intent to write Tefillin for the sake of Heaven. However, it is more important for the scribe to have the holy intention to disseminate and in this aspect people are not at all careful.

2) The Gemoroh relates that R’Ishmael instructed R’Meir, who was a scribe, as follows; “You should be meticulous with your profession which is m’leches Shomayim (a heavenly work). Should you omit one letter or add one letter, you can destroy the entire world.” Maharsha explains that since the entire Torah is composed of names of the Al-mighty, with which He created the world. If one letter is missing, the entire world, dependant on the Torah for its existance will collapse.

3) The Levush very strongly criticizes soferim who permit inexperienced youths who are unfamiliar with the necessary intentions for writing Tefillin and are merely practicing their caligraphic skills to write the parshiyos for Tefillin. Yet, the Sofer examines the parshiyos written by these young men, and if they appear to be kosher, he sells them and in order to obtain a good price, he, moreover, claims that the parshiyos are of his own handwork. Every sofer must refrain from such dubious practice; because the Heavenly punishment for this deception is extremely severe. Another very important point is, when instructing pupils in the practice one should be careful not to teach them on parshiyos which contain G-d’s name! Rather Megillos Esther should be used as will be further explained. In any event it is improper according to the Torah, to sell parshiyos written by others and to represent them as his own.\(^6\) Distributing invalid Tefillin causes vain broches (benedictions) to be pronounced every day by the one who does them, aside from the fact that he does not fulfill the mitzvoh of Tefillin. Therefore, the sofer must have more givas shomayim. (be more G-d fearing) than a shochet (ritual slaughterer), who cause people to infract but one negative commandment. An irresponsible sofer is liable to greater severe punishment than an irresponsible shochet.\(^8\) Furthermore a shochet produces dire results only for a short time, whereas a sofer who writes invalid Tefillin parshiyos which can be used for generations, bears the responsibility for many future generations since every person who does invalid Tefillin, besides the vain brochos (blessings) he recites\(^9\) transgresses eight mitzvos asay (positive commandments) every day.
5) One who fulfills the mitzvah of Tefillin is considered as having fulfilled the entire Torah. Consequently, the sofer who writes invalid Tefillin can be punished for preventing the purchaser from fulfilling the entire Torah. Think what it means to bear the responsibility for the loss by many hundreds of people of all the Torah commandments!

7) Moreover, one bears the responsibility for neglecting Torah study. We find in the Midrash that the Jews complained before the Al-mighty that they want to study Torah day and night, but they have no time. The Holy, One, blessed is He, replied: "Put on Tefillin, and I will consider it as though you had studied Torah day and night." We find that, one who wears invalid Tefillin, in addition to neglecting the mitzvah of Tefillin, simultaneously neglects the mitzvah of Torah study, for which every moment of neglect the transgressor incurs the death penalty.

The sofer bears this serious responsibility while writing the Tefillin and selling them. For this reason, the Tur states that a sofer must be a G-d fearing man.

8) In addition, it is not only the incapable soferim who bear this responsibility, but also the dealers who are not familiar with the writings of the Tefillin and randomly purchase anything that comes along; they, too, are responsible for everything they resell.

9) All the warnings for soferim concerning yiras shomayim (fear of Heaven) and other restrictions, apply equally to those who make the battim (compartments), retzuos (straps), gidin (sinews), etc. The responsibility cannot be divided in two. Each participant is equally responsible if his mission is improperly fulfilled.
10) The conscientious sofer who believes that these warnings are neither directed nor meant for him and that he need not worry, is in serious error. We are taught that whoever is greater than his fellow, his yetzer horeh (evil inclination) is stronger than his fellows. This principle in the case at hand has a two-fold application: First, precisely because he excels in Yiras Shomayim and conscientiousness, his evil inclinatiin is stronger. Secondly, because he — on account of his conscientiousness - attracts customers who are outstandingly observant of the mitzvos and who therefore, are themselves a prime target for the yetzer horah (evil inclination), the evil inclination will in order to get at the customers - try all the harder to corrupt him.

Just as in regard to other mitzvos of the Torah, the trials and tribulation which givas Hashem (pious people) must experience are different from those of the general public. The same maxim applies to the scribes labor The Maxim, “Were it not that the Holy One, Blessed be He, helps the individual, one would not be able to overcome the Yetzer Horah”, applies to everyone.

11) In recent generations, the forces of evil have exerted much efforts on several fundamental Torah precepts, one of which is the Soferus. The Soferim should understand that the struggle in this respect, is incomparable to the general daily trials and tribulations; the caution, as well/as the siatah/dishmayah (Divine Assistance) required, is unfathomable, that only a G-d fearing man can achieve it.

12) Because Tefillin have many regulations. If one buys ordinary Tefillin without knowing who wrote them, a broche (blessing) may not be recited over them. Even if they were given to a sofer to examine. Some Tefillin are possul (invalid) even though their invalidity cannot be detected with the eye. For example: if they were not written for the purpose of Tefillin; or if the holy names were not sanctified. At present, unfortunately, we find many soferim who are not strict with all the regulations of Tefillin, and if they find a fault in the Tefillin after they have been written, they correct them in a manner not permitted for Tefillin. Even if such occurrences comprise only a small percentage, we must be wary of them. We must, surely, be careful not to seek ‘good buys’ in expensive Tefillin, for those who sell cheaply, almost surely do not give the writing its proper care.\footnote{20}

Chapter 5

Advice and Admonition to the Soferim

1) The sofer must write perfect and complete letters, not broken ones, slowly and with concentration. He must not work in a hurried manner in order to earn more money.
Since ill-begotten profits will only be lost and he will forfeit his soul since his is causing the public to sin.\footnote{1}

2) Being that today there are many parshiyos of Tefillin on the market place, there is more reason to be apprehensive concerning them. Every erudite individual should study the laws concerning writing Tefillin and mezuzos...especially regarding the form of the letters\footnote{2} and if possible examine them himself to determine whether they are kosher.

3) It would be an excellent idea to institute in yeshivos and especially in kollelim courses in the laws of Stam, Sifrei Torah, Tefillin and Mezuzos The advantages are indescribably enormous. Therefore, a sincere and heartfelt appeal is directed to the Roshei HaYeshivos, Deans and Principles of the Kollelim; Please include such courses in your Curriculum! In this manner you will accrue great zechusim for being mi’zakai ho’rabim. (bringing the public to righteousness).

4) One who writes or disseminates invalid Tefillin or mezuzos will not be resurrect with the rest of the dead\(^3\).

5) Soferim must be careful to behave with sanctity and awe towards Sifrei Torah, Tefillin, and Mezuzuos; to be pious and perform good deeds. To act otherwise, one risks his life and limb, since the entire Torah is composed of Hashem’s Names. If one is not careful to write with great sanctity and purity, his wife is in jeopardy and severe punishments awaits him and his progeny. As long as the posul (invalid) Sifrei Torah, Tefillin, or Mezuzos exist in this world, all those who recite brochos (blessings) over them stumble into sin only because of him, furthermore, their homes have no protection: allowing the malachai chabalah (destructive angels) admittance into their home, their property, health, children, lives, etc. The sofer who treats his writing function lightly, and does not act with due diligence, respect, holiness, concentration, and awe, is responsible for all injuries resulting therefrom.\(^4\)

6) The sofer assumes responsibility for the sins committed by all those who use his Tefillin and mezuzos, since our sages tell us that whoever has tzitzis on his garment, Tefillin on his arm, and a mezuzah on his doorpost, is assured that he will not sin.\(^5\)

7) The sanctity of Tefillin is very great, for as long as one has Tefillin on his head and on his arm, he is humble and G-d fearing, and is not attracted to levity or idle talk, and evil thoughts do not enter his mind, rather he turns his heart to matters of truth and righteousness\(^6\).
8) The longevity assured to individuals who wear Tefillin is dependent upon the sofer.\(^7\)

9) The soferim cause people to incur the severe punishments destined for those who have no mezuzah. They deprive individuals of the benefit Hashem promised to those who fulfill the mitzvoths (commandments) as it is written: “So that your days and the days of your children be multiplied”\(^8\)

10) There is an additional concomitant, sin and robbery.\(^9\) The sofer makes money unlawfully and deceitfully, since the customer did not pay for invalid Tefillin or mezuzos. Thus the sofer is guilty of the great sin of robbing the public, a sin which cannot be rectified because the culprit does not know which people he robbed.

11) It is exceedingly difficult to repent for this sin as our sages explain concerning one who causes the public to sin.\(^9\)

12) There is no one doing anything concerning invalid Tefillin and mezuzos, although these are items which stand on the highest level of importance in the world. Every ignoramus writes Tefillin, sifrei Torah, and mezuzos. Is there any wonder that our prayers are not accepted? Unfortunately, I have no power to do anything, but to bewail the situation. Perhaps Hashem will help us, and in future generations a means to remedy the situation will be discovered\(^10\)

Chapter 6

The Great Reward for Honest Scribes

1) The reward for causing the public to perform mitzvos is infinitely great. We find\(^1\) that there is no comparison between the reward of a person who reaches the highest level of purity, just below that of an angel, to the reward of one who teaches others to follow the right path. The latter’s merits are multiplied through the good deeds constantly performed by his pupils. This applies to a sofer who causes people to obtain zechusim (merit) by writing kosher parshiyos\(^2\).

2) One who leads the public to righteousness is rewarded by Hashem with the privilege of raising a pious generation.\(^3\) For this reason, the soferim must be careful to perform their work faithfully, exactly, beautifully and they should continuously restudy and review all the laws\(^4\) applicable to sifrei Torah, tefillin and Mezuzos. As long as they will be well-versed and understand every facet of the law thoroughly, they will be considered as individuals who bring the public to righteousness, and will benefit both in olom hazeh (this world) and in olom haboh (hereafter).

3) It is related that Rabbi Joseph Caro\(^5\) told\(^5\) Rabbi Chaim Vitall that he was informed from Heaven\(^6\) that half the world existed in merit of his father, Rabbi Joseph Vitall, on account of the Tefillin that he wrote\(^7\).

4) “Whoever writes good and kosher Tefillin according to his ability, receives a reward multiplied many fold and is saved from gehinnom.”\(^8\)

5) Every sofer must give this matter serious thought before he sits down to write. He must consider that he is standing at a fork road. One path, if he writes the parshiyos of the Tefillin and mezuzos, as well as the sefer torah in a proper and beautiful manner to the best of his ability, as is fitting for the scribe of the Melech Malachai Hamlochim (Supreme King of Kings) then he will benefit both from olam hazeh (this world) because his compensation was earned honestly and thus deserving of blessings and obtain infinite reward in the olam haboh (next world). He will be saved from Gehinnon, and in the future world will shine brilliantly like the stars in the Heavens above. As a bonus he is considered as one who leads the public to righteousness, who is protected by Heaven from trials and sins, and occupies the highest position for which man was created, since every time someone dons Tefillin, as long as the mezuzoh is on the doorpost and every time the Torah is read, the sofer has a share in the mitzvoh. This can last for many many years to come.

6) On the other hand, the Sofer must know and remember that if he does not regard the matter in the manner warranted and acts lightheadedly and sells improper merchandise since his only thoughts are to earn money quickly and easily. His money will not have a blessing; he burns his soul with his own hands and can expect an exceedingly severe punishment in the world to come, as well as difficulties placed in his path in this world to prevent him from repenting our sages declared. Causing a person to sin is worse than killing him. In addition the sofer takes the brunt of the punishment of those who, because of him neglected the mitzvos of Tefillin and mezuzos during their entire lifetime as well as the mitzvoh of writing or reading from a kosher Sofer Torah, since they depended on his honesty and sincerity. On this basis, he will never extricate himself from Gehinnom nor will he have an enjoyable easy life in this world. In this way, we can explain the difficult Rabbinical dictum. "He who lives from the toil of his hands is greater than a G-d fearing man!” as follows: There are some people who earn their livelihood from toil and sweat, (e.g. a shoemaker, a tailor, a carpenter, a coachman). The money paid by their customers is solely for the work performed and for nothing else. Nobody cares what methods were used to produce the articles. One who is engaged in holy work (e.g. a shochet, a rabbi, a sofer a teacher etc.) however, receives his pay because their customer wish to fulfill the halachah as dictated in the shulchan aruch that a person must utilize the serves of a G-d-fearing Sofer, shochet and the like.

He must at all times cloak himself with the Ohl Malchus Shomayim. The customer, therefore, in effect is paying for and purchasing the Sofer’s piety; making his work very perilous. Accordingly our sages warn us not to rush into this type of holy work. An average worker in a regular profession risks nothing; he benefits from this world as well as the next. Even if an employee cheats someone, he does not take away his mitzvoh.

The sofer, however, must be very careful before rushing into this profession and beware what lies in store for him. This, I opine, is what our sages implied when they stated that one who lives from his toil is better than one who lives from fear of Heaven.17

7) There are certain other aspects which cause sofrus to be more complicated than other occupations. For example, if one manufactures a food product and sells it as “kosher” he can perhaps reason and convince himself that although it barely meets the kashrus standards, commercially produced foods are anyways not always sufficiently kosher enough for the mehadrin (very scrupulous). Besides those who are very scrupulous in their observance would not buy commercially produced foods. 17. One may convince himself with such an argument

In the case of sifrei Torah, tefillin, and mezuzos, however, this convoluted reasoning does not apply. Everyone knows and understands that even the most scrupulous individuals do not slaughter for themselves, neither do they write Tefillin for themselves. Therefore, when one comes to a sofer it does not mean that he is satisfied with mediocre Tefillin; rather each customer wishes to buy Tefillin according to his level.

It is, thus obvious it is forbidden to sell to a scrupulously observant individual a set of parshios, which the buyer would not accept, were he to know the problems involved in them; He would surely refuse them and purchase better Tefillin, even though they would cost him much more money.

Chapter 7

Requisite Care for the Other Parts of Tefillin

1) We must be extremely careful concerning the battim, retzuos, sinews, parchment, skins, dye, and ink that are sold, since should anyone of them be posul (invalid) regardless of the propriety of all other parts of the Tefillin, the Tefillin are rendered invalid and one does not fulfill the mitzvoh of doning Tefillin.

Imagine, for example, taking the most beautiful parshiyos, upon which Elijah Hanovi himself testified that they could not be surpassed, and applying them on your head and arm without battim. Could you possibly fulfill the mitzvoh in this manner? Would there be any value, if you would take the best battim with parshiyos and sineus, and place them on your hand and head without retzuos? Or if everything is in order, but the improper sinews are used to tie the battim closed, the Tefillin are invalid.

2) The similar law applies to the Sefer Torah where every individual part must be halachially (lawfully) valid. The parchment, ink, shirtut (the ruling of lines) and the sinews.

3) Accordingly, the piety required of a sofer is equally applicable to all individuals involved in the preparation of Tefillin. Consequently, everything here-to-fore applies to all craftsmen, as well as to the sofer who writes the tefillin parshiyos.

4) Our sages in the early works mention only the scribe because years ago all the work from the purchase of hides up to the sewing the Tefillin was performed by them.Consequently everyone was cognizant that each type of craft required exclusively a G-d-fearing laborer, no less than the writing.

In the recent past, division of labor has become a standard practice in the manufacture of Tefillin with each phase performed by a separate ‘expert’ individual.

1) Purchasing of raw hides and curing them.
2) Tanning and parchment making.
3) Ink manufacturing
4) Shirtut (ruling and making the necessary lines on the parchment).
5) Sinews maker (to sew Sifrei Torah, megillos, battim)
6) Battim manufacturer.
7) Retzuos manufacturer
8) Dye maker
9) Parshiyos scribe
10) In Eretz Israel - One checks the parmit - another writes and finally another gives it all a thorough examination.

11) Conglomerator; putting together the parshioys, battim, sineus, and retzuos, and completing the job.

In battim construction alone, to a significant percentage, the work is divided among several craftsmen:
12) The mold maker.
13) The Presser.
14) The Shin maker.
15) The "Squareness" finisher.

While this division of labor is not ironclad, it may at times be divided among many individuals. However, its rarely among craftsmen, and then, only a few of the divisions are eliminated. Each and everyone of these craftsmen must be extremely pious and G-d-fearing since the Kashrus of the Tefillin is dependent upon them, as well as the Sofer.

Chapter 8

The "Religious Article" Merchants
1) Merchants dealing with Tefillin articles (parshiyos, battim, retzuos, parchment, etc.) bear responsibility for everything they sell. They, too, can be counted among those who lead the public to righteousness, or among the opposite type of people, Heaven forbid. They must, therefore thoroughly investigate all merchandise they sell. Dealers are sometimes faced with greater difficulties than a sofer because a sofer can readily detect irregularities whereas a dealer would be unfamiliar with those matters. The sofer is aware of the halachah requirements and the obstacles that can arise even by a G-d-fearing merchant (booksellers and the like) are ignorant of what they are to beware of, including possible deceptive practices prevalent in this field.

2) We may not purchase Tefillin from a dealer unless he is an extremely G-d-fearing man, just as we may not buy from a sofer unless he is such; and then only if he knows who wrote the Tefillin or mezuzos, and that the latter to the best of his knowledge is also a very pious man. It is preferable not to rely on this, but to obtain a G-d-fearing sofer who possibly recognizes the sofer from his script.

3) Another disadvantage in purchasing Tefillin from a dealer: if one buys directly from the sofer he can ask many questions (e.g. whether the Tefillin are only kosher b'dieved (kosher ex post facto) or l'chatchilah (kosher from the outset)...details which cannot be determined when buying from a second or third party.

Chapter 9

The Image of a G-d-fearing Scribe

1) The verse (Ps. 112:3)..."and his righteousness endureth forever," refers to one who leads the public to righteousness, e.g. one who teach pious people how to make Tefillin, so that they will be able to make them for others. (sefer chasidim (write 8:6) Eliyahu Rabbah 32:37:) Mishnah Berurah.

2) The sofer must be a fearer of G-d, eschewing evil and quaking before the word of G-d, to the extent that everything he writes and does should be acceptable before the Al-mighty. (Kaf Hachaim 10:23).
3) A sofer must be well versed in the laws of Sefer Torah. Every individual must be extremely careful. To insure his Tefillin are halachically (lawfully) proper, they should be purchased from a particular competent adult sofer...a ben torah (learned man) recognized to be G-d-fearing, to whom strange money is dear and to stipulate with the sofer that when writing Tefillin he should not place any metal tool upon the parshiyos (i.e. he should neither erase nor scratch away at any letter) and to inspect the parshiyos before placing them in the battim. I have seen many pitfalls with my own eyes.” (Chayei Adam iy:1) It is both interesting and note worthy that the Chayei Adam concludes that most soferim are not highly learned and are liable of making halachic errors. Hence the Chaye Adam testifies that already in his time, most soferim were not bone fide experts in the art of soferus. How much more so in our time!.

Unless he is certain that the sofer possesses the aforementioned five qualities, we should not engage him to write Tefillin or mezusos.

No one should feel sure of himself, but should do all that is within his power to ascertain the kashrus of his Tefillin. As a practical plan, one should instruct the sofer not to touch the parchment with an iron instrument, as per the Chayei Adom. After completing a letter and commencing to write the next one, he must not go back to a previous letter. After he has completed writing the Tefillin, they should be taken to another sofer for inspection. (it is advantageous to tell the inspector the conditions he made with the first sofer, as per the Chaye Adom).

This method saves one from serious risks of invalidity, e.g. choktochos (creating letters by scratching rather than writing) writing letters out of sequence, using materials barely kosher since a rabbi passed judgment on them, etc.

There is a valuable advantage in allowing a second sofer to inspect the Tefillin, because unwillingly, the writer has an interest in the kashrus of the Tefillin. Furthermore, it is only human nature that one has little patience to inspect thoroughly a script with which one has busied himself for some time. One should, therefore, not spare the expense and have the Tefillin inspected by a second sofer.

We know of incidences in which the sofer assured the purchases that he gave the Tefillin to be inspected, and that nothing more was required. Later, errors which invalidated the Tefillin were discovered.

One must purchase all component parts of the Tefillin, from a competent and pious sofer. Every pious person should even be more particular with mitzvos than he is particular that his clothing should completely be in order. One must not spare expense. One must rather purchase only what is kosher beyond the shadow of a doubt, even if it is more expensive. People will, unfortunately, purchase Tefillin and retzuos from just about anybody simply because they sell them cheaper, and alas they are, indeed invalid. Kitzur Shulchan Aruch 10:1.

Everyone must understand that to obtain the most beautiful Tefillin at a low price, is a contradiction, one must either forego one or the other---either the beauty of the Tefillin or the low price.

It is about such matters as this one that the Talmudic sage warns us to “consider the loss of a mitzvoh as opposed to its reward.” Avos. For the few additional dollars you are out for the better pair of Tefillin, you receive much more reward in Heaven for the beautification of the mitzvoh, Soferei Yisrael. ch. 2.

We conversely may not rely on price alone, however, and assume that, because the Tefillin are expensive they are of a better quality. We must purchase everything through a well-known competent and pious sofer, soferei yisrael, ch. 2. Every Jew must be scrupulous in the observance of the great mitzvah of Tefillin and must look for a pious sofer and beautiful Tefillin. He must remember that one does not purchase Tefillin every day, nor even every year. How can we not spend the little extra money for such a great mitzvah Aruch Hashulchan 37:1.

Chapter 10

Beautification of the Mitzvos of Tefillin-Mezuzoh

1) One should provide for himself beautiful parchment ink, pen, script and a competent scribe!

2) The meaning of “beautiful” mentioned in conjunction with a mitzvoh, connotes first that it should be consistent with the halachah as much as possible.²

Therefore, we should look for the most beautiful parchment according to the halachah, and then also for appearance. Beautiful ink according to the halachah means kosher and durable. Beautiful script means the most consistent with the halachoh, and of secondary importance it should portend stylistic and caligraphic beauty.
A competent scribe means one endowed with the fear of G-d, honesty, and experience since it can very easily happen that the most pious sofer can inadvertently overlook a serious matter, until he is accustomed to the craft of sofros:

3 quoted from Responsa or Yesharim, Orach Chaim

We shoud exerise the greatest care out of respect for the Tefillin, not to take hold of the retzuos and to let the Tefillin hang, but to take hold of the bayis together with the kesher, (knot) and to arrange the bayis in its place and the kesher, in its place.4 Beautiful Tefillin take priority to a beautiful tallis.5 If someone wishes to spend money to beautify a mitzvoh and his Tefillin and mezuzos are one hundred percent kosher without this beautification, and there is a poor man who has no Tefillin, he must forego the beautification of his mitzvoh, in order that the poor man will be able 6 to fulfill the mitzvoh at least according to its minimum requirements.

6) One should insist to pay for a mitzvoh and not receive it as a gift.7

7) One who can afford to pay for Tefillin, yet takes them as a gift, receives no reward for this mitzvoh.8 According to some authorities, he may not recite a blessing over them.8

8) If circumstances make it necessary to use someone else’s tallis and Tefillin, one may recite a blessing.8

9) It is a beautification of the mitzvoh to refrain from bargaining over the price.9

10) Every G-d-fearing man should reflect: if he is so meticulous concerning his clothing and his furniture that they should be in order, how much more must he be meticulous concerning mitzvoh matters! He should spare no expense, but purchase those definitely kosher, even if they are very expensive, and then make sure that they are in order and kept black.\textsuperscript{10}

2) From the outset, one should buy parshiyos from a sofer who writes and does everything with his right hand.\textsuperscript{11}

12) One must put his Tefillin together immediately upon removing them and not leave them unrolled for this shows lack of respect.\textsuperscript{12}

Chapter II
A Pious and Qualified Scribe

1) The pure mental attitude and preparation in undertaking the holy work of being a ritual scribe is of extreme importance. A story is related where once a pious Jew gave a sofer parchment and ordered him to write a siddur (prayer book) on it. Upon completion, when he started to pray from this siddur, the gates of heaven were locked to his prayers.

A sage revealed the reason for this: “When the sofer wrote the siddur, he had impure thoughts in his mind.\textsuperscript{1} We also find that a tzaddik refused to sit in the place previously occupied by a sofer who pretended to be a tzaddik, although he was not, and also refused to use his ink, or pen, or to pray from the siddur he had written.\textsuperscript{2}

We should definitely determine that the sofer be a G-d-fearing man, who turns away from sin and quakes to fulfill the commandments of the Al-mighty, to be assured that the mitzvoh of Tefillin that one will fulfill should be acceptable to G-d.
There are many advantages to a sofer who knows and understands how to behave with sanctity regarding heavenly matters.\(^3\)

If Tefillin are found to be posul (invalid), significant atonement is required if they were not purchased originally from a completely reliable person.\(^4\)

If one encroached upon someone's rights, the former may not be a sofer, for a wicked man cannot be called a pious, G-d fearing man.\(^5\)

6) "If a sofer stole, some say that he is still qualified to write.\(^6\) Others, however, disqualify him.\(^7\)

7) A sofer who took a case of litigation to a secular court is disqualified.\(^8\)

8) If a sofer sold battim from which the hairs do not protrude, we may not recite a blessing upon these Tefillin until the sofer is examined to determine whether he is well-versed and whether or not he is lax in his observance of the laws of Tefillin.\(^9\)

9) Even a one time informer is disqualified to write Tefillin.\(^10\)

10) Even if he only says, "I will inform," he is disqualified to write.\(^11\)

11) "If a sofer has been discovered to be disqualified, the Tefillin and mezuzos he wrote after his disqualification, are invalid even if nothing wrong is found in them.\(^12\)

If a sofer infringed the law of yichud, (i.e. he was alone with a woman) one must beware of his Tefillin and mezuzos. A sofer must immerse himself in a mikvah after marital relations. Sefer Eldad Hadani (quoted by Mordechai in the beginning of Chullin) states: A shochet's slaughtering is disqualified if he slaughtered without immersing himself in a mikvoh after marital relations. Definately this applies regarding a sofer. Chida (Toras Hashelamim,) states that it is proper for a shochet to immerse himself after, moreover, shechitah is really optional since one does not have to bring himself to fulfill this mitzvoh if he does not deserve to eat meat, while a sofer performs an obligatory mitzvoh.

According to Pri Megadim, a sofer must be more pious than a shochet, and hence must be more scrupulous with purity than a shochet. 'See Kesses Hasofer, ch. 1 Lishkah 1 Simlah Chadashah writes: "A shochet must be learned, i.e. have the compentency to learn by himself and to understand a little gemorah with rashi, this indicates sufficient understanding to be careful and to act properly. A sofer must have this minimum degree of erudition. than a shochet. See also Kesseth Hasofer, ch.1, Lishkah 1, who writes: Simlah Chadashah writes concerning a shochet, that he must be learned, i.e. he should be able to learn by himself and to understand a little Gemara with Rashi, then he understands enough to be careful in his ways that they be in order. Likewise, we must be careful of the same things with a sofer.\(^{15a}\)

14) A sofer may not correct a Sefer Toroh to read therefrom while wearing Tefillin.\(^{15b}\)

15) The sofer who inspects the Tefillin must rectify what the first sofer failed to do.\(^{16}\)

16) The fulfillment and important mitzvoh of Tefillin lies in the hands of the sofer. It is within his capabilities to act properly or, G-d forbid, act dishonorably.\(^{17}\)

17) It is the sofers responsibility to inform his customers, as well as the teachers to their pupils, that they must be meticulously careful to place the Tefillin on their head. in such a position that not even the smallest part thereof extends below the hairline.”

18) It is indeed unfortunate that soferim write Sifrei Torah, Tefillin and Mezuzos when they are not well-versed in the specific laws thereto appertaining and are not experts in the specialized caligraphy skills. How bad will it be for those who bring harm upon themselves and others! They do not understand this negligence causes their customers to neglect daily the mitzvoh of Tefillin which is equal to eight positive commandments (מצות עשר) in addition to causing the vain recital of the brochases and the recital of the “Shema Yisrael” (without kosher tefillin everyday.

They also prevent people from attaining the lofty heights only attainable via the fulfillment of the mitzvoh of Tefillin only kosher tefillin written and made in accordance with Torah regulations accrues these wonderful things.18

The same applies to mezuzos. Negligent Soferim constantly deprive their customers of two mitzvos and bring upon them the punishment destined for those who neglect to fulfill the mitzvah of mezuzos. In addition to the deprivation of the good promised them by the Torah “In order that your days and the days of your children be increased.”18

19) The unqualified soferim commit another serious crime: They take money unlawfully, since they receive money in payment for Kosher tefillin and mezuzos while they, in fact, give invalid ones. This illegal compensation is considered theft from the public, which cannot be returned.19
20) The soferim must behave with sanctity and purity, be pious, perform good deeds, and not be lenient in their observance of mitzvos, otherwise their lives are in jeopardy.\textsuperscript{20}

21) One who writes kosher tefillin properly will receive an infinitely great reward.\textsuperscript{21}

22) Enumerated among those who are considered as enhancing the righteous of the public are: One who teaches sofros to pious students lead the public to righteousness.

23) Soferim must constantly review the laws of writing sifrei Toroh, tefillin and mezuzos, in order to be fully knowledgable in every facet of the law. They will then be counted among those who lead the public to righteousness.\textsuperscript{22}

24) The Sefer Boruch She’amar writes: "The sofer must write complete and unbroken letters slowly and with concentration, unhurried (in order to earn much money) because the money gained will be lost and so will his soul.\textsuperscript{24}"

25) He who writes kosher tefillin and mezuzos in accordance to the best of his ability, receives a very large reward, and will be exempt from suffering the travails of Gehinnum.\textsuperscript{25}

26) The soferim must be warned very strongly and admonished to do no part of the preparation of the Tefillin through a woman or a child [under bar-mitzvah].\textsuperscript{27}

27) All rabbis should utilize extreme caution not to grant permission to anyone to engage in sofres in their locale, unless, they recognize him as a G-d-fearing man, who quakes before sin, and is well-versed in all parts of the Shulchan Aruch dealing with these laws.\(^{28}\)

28) Soferim must be watchful not to make extremely small Tefillin, because it is virtually impossible that the script will be made properly, and even if it is made so, it will not last long.\(^{29}\)

29) The sofer must have a separate room in which to write, so that he be not disturbed.\(^{30}\)

30) Before the sofer commences to write, he should confess, recite, "Ono b'coach" and a short prayer.\(^{31}\)

31) One may not write when he is drowsy or after drinking intoxicating beverages.\(^{32}\)

32) Unfortunately, nowadays people look at the outside of the battim to make sure that they are square, but they do not look at the stitches and the titura (the bottom).
We must be very careful, however, concerning these three things; that they should be exactly square (the length and the width equal), i.e. the upper part of the battim, the lower part that lies on the head, and the stitches on all sides.

If they are not square, the tefillin are possul, and the one who puts them on neglects the mitzvoh of tefillin and recites blessings in vain. The sofer must, therefore, use extreme caution concerning this.

33) The pen with which the sifrei Torah, tefillin, and mezuzos are written must carefully be watched lest it fall to the ground.\(^{33}\)

34) The pen must be prepared expressly for this purpose.\(^{34}\)

35) If one scratches off a particle from the pen in order to prepare it, he must be careful not to allow the dust to fall to the ground.\(^{35}\)
36) One may not scratch with a pen.\textsuperscript{36}

Chapter 12

Important Selections concerning Tefillin and Mezuzos and Sifrei Torah

1) One who intentionally does not fulfill the mitzvoh of tefillin may not be counted to a minyan.\textsuperscript{1}

2) We may not recite a blessing over stolen tefillin, and one who puts them on has not fulfilled the mitzvoh even after the fact.\textsuperscript{2}

3) It happened that somebody embarked on a journey, thinking that he would stop on the way to pray in a synagogue where he would find a tallis and tefillin. Circumstances, however, did not permit him to put on tallis and tefillin.

   The rabbi decided that, since he should have taken his tallis and tefillin along and did not, he should redeem himself with charity by purchasing a pair of tefillin for a poor youth. Then the Al-mighty would forgive him.

4) If someone purchased tefillin from a dealer, and were later discovered to be stolen property, some authorities claim that he has fulfilled the mitzvoh, and some maintain that he has not.

5) If the tefillin are found to have never been kosher, the sofer must return the money paid for them, or replace them with kosher parshios.\textsuperscript{4}

6) If the tefillin are merely kosher but not of a better quality, even if the dealer sells them cheaply, he must notify the purchaser. If he failed to do so, and the fact was later discovered, the buyer may rescind the sale.\textsuperscript{5}

7) If someone gave parshios to a sofer to inspect and correct, and the said sofer connected two letters, thereby invalidating the tefillin (or mezuzah or Sefer Torah, the sofer is liable for damages).

If they did not become completely invalid, but kosher after the fact, he is not liable.⁶

8) If someone gave parchment to a sofer and ordered him to write tefillin on it, and the sofer spoiled it so that it was no longer usable the sofer must pay for the parchment.⁷

9) If someone had ordered parshios from a sofer, and he has doubts concerning their kashrus, he is not obligated to accept them.⁸

10) If the place on the head where the tefillin must lie is dirty, it must be washed thoroughly before the tefillin are put on.⁹

11) Those who bathe or perform teviloh, (ritual immersion), shortly before prayers, must dry his head thoroughly since the water is a chatzitzoh, an intervention for the tefillin.¹⁰

12) Those who have long hair, besides the sin they commit are guilty of putting the tefillin on a chatzitzoh.

13) The tallis and tefillin bags may not be shatnez.¹²

14) Some make the tallis and tefillin bags of calf skin as a momento that the tefillin atone for the sin of the Golden Calf.¹³

15) Tefillin must be examined twice in seven years.¹⁴

16) Scrupulously observant Jews have their tefillin examined every Ellul.¹⁵

17) If tefillin fall into water, they must be examined.¹⁶

18) If someone left his tefillin near an oven or a spit, or in the sun or other hot places, and it is recognizable that the heat has affected the battim, since they have become swollen or the color is peeling, they must be examined.¹⁷
19) If someone is in dire straits or if a member of his family is in distress, he should have his tefillin and mezuzos examined (see my book on laws of mezuzoh, quotations from authorities).

20) Those houses upon which invalid mezuzos are affixed, although the buyer is not at fault, since he was deceived, they, nevertheless, have no protection.\textsuperscript{18}

21) Even if the mezuzoh is kosher, if it has not been affixed properly, the house has no protection.\textsuperscript{18}

22) We may not purchase sifrei Torah, tefillin, or mezuzos from gentiles for more than their value, lest we accustom them to steal these articles. If the gentile asks for a high price, we should beg him to lower the price. If he refuses, we must leave it there.\textsuperscript{20}

23) From the outset, we may not write any Name of the Al-mighty except in a book, lest it come to disgrace.\textsuperscript{21}

24) A sefer Torah that needs correction may not be kept more than thirty days.\textsuperscript{22}

25) In order to ascertain whether the battim, are perfectly square both from the top and the bottom, and that the stitches are also square, take any straight object (of paper or wood, etc.) and place it along the length. Then place it along the width and check whether they are uniform. Then place it diagonally from one corner to the opposite one, and then the other two corners.\textsuperscript{23}

26) Concerning dyeing the tefillin; if one wishes to beware of all doubts, he must blacken them with a black dye that has no substance but only a black appearance.

27) Those who dye the tefillin with a little sugar dye that crumbles when rubbed, cannot be considered possul.
But, what certain soferim have invented to use a thick dye that can be peeled off like a leaf, this is invalid.24

28) It is a halachoh transmitted to Moses on Mt. Sinai that the retzuos must be black on the outside, and we must be very careful to blacken them again if the dye rubs off.25

Even if it is not white, but as long as it is not completely black.26

29) We should be careful to dye the sides of the retzuos.27

30) If we sand paper the battim, or retzuos, we may not throw the dust on the ground, but it must be hidden away.28

31) A rabbi may not ordain a sofer until he is convinced that he is a G-d fearing man, and does not regard mitzvos lightly, is exact in their observance, and that he knows the halachos thoroughly.29

32) During the tanning of the parchment, the tanner must have in mind to eliminate the evil, and bring out the good and to adhere to sanctity.30

33) When someone is wearing tefillin, and he has something to carry, he may not carry it between his arm and his body, so as not to intervene between the tefillin and his heart.31

34) Even if one's hair grows down as far as his forehead, he should not wear the tefillin on his forehead, but on the higher part of his head, where most people have hair.32

35) If someone sees that someone else is wearing the tefillin in the wrong place, he is required to tell him.33

36) It is a great mitzvoh and a tremendous merit to appoint a person to watch during the services that everyone's tefillin are situated in the proper place; and every G-d-fearing person should strive for this appointment.\textsuperscript{34}

37) One may not put a glove on the right hand and thus clothed, put the tefillin on the left arm\textsuperscript{35}

38) We may not say, "Baruch Shem Kevod Malchuso, L’olam Va’ed," until the tefillin is set firmly on the head.

This guidebook emphasizes the importance of tevilah, ritual immersion, for soferim, (scribes) shochtim, (ritual slaughterers) and ordinary laymen and will hopefully serve as an inspiration for everyone to strive to perform his holy endeavors with purity. This compendium includes sources recommending and even obligating tevilah before performing shechtoh, writing tefillin and mezuzos, learning Torah, or reciting prayers; The various measures for mikvaos (ritualariums) the various types of mikvaos acceptable for this purpose, (when strictly kosher mikvaos are not available.

We appeal to the public at large to study Mishnayos for the benefit of the soul of Rabbi Chaim ben Zev o.b.m. The deceased was very active in the performance of mitzvos and good deeds. Also, many hundreds derived benefit from his acts of kindness, unaware of the power behind all his doing. The merit he gained by these deeds is unfathomable. In our sacred literature, we read that ‘one who saves his fellow Jew is rewarded for all future generations descended from him, as well as he is rewarded for saving the person himself.’ All these merits stand him in good stead, and he is elevated from one temple to the next. It is, therefore, a great mitzvah to learn Mishnayos for the benefit of this holy soul. It is indeed an act of kindness, especially since he informed us during his lifetime that he yearned for people to learn Mishnayos for his soul as much as possible. Since the letters of the word “Mishnayoh” contains the same letters as the word “Nishomoh”, therefore does it create merit for his soul.

Laws of Tevilah (Ritual Immersion) before Prayers

These laws apply to every individual, especially to soferim and shochtim. We cite here a number of regulations of teviloh.

A sofer should perform teviloh regularly.¹

1) Chatzitzah (intervention) does not invalidate this teviloh unless it covers the majority of the body.²

Regarding Erev Yom Kippur, Shaloh rules stringently. From the outset, if it is not too difficult, it may be advisable for a sofer to immerse without a chatzitzah, e.g. to remove Band-aids and the like, especially since chatzitzah invalidates the teviloh as regards terumoh and hallowed foods.³ And some say that as long as terumah and hallowed foods existed even for prayer, chatzitzah invalidated the teviloh.⁴

2) Nowadays, since mikvaos are common, there is greater obligation to perform teviloh than in previous eras.⁵

In our times, when mikvaos are furnished with all comforts and conveniences, the obligation is still greater, especially for soferim and shochtim.

Yismach Moshoh writes in the section of his book dealing with practices, that everyone should be very careful about teviloh, in order to learn and pray in a state of purity.

3) Although the Gemara (Berachos 22a) states that the enactment requiring immersion for those who experienced a nocturnal emission or engaged in marital relations was repealed, some authorities maintain that this is true only as regards studying Torah, but in order to pray, immersion is still obligatory.⁶

4) Others maintain that at least the Sheliach Tzibur (prayer leader) must perform teviloh.⁷

5) Rabbi Yaakov Emden writes that one who performs teviloh is considered a tzaddik.⁸

6) The kuzari (20:60) writes that one who is on a high spiritual level, feels a change in himself when he does not immerse himself (Maharsham).

7) The saint of Strelisk o.b.m. complained that if his father had performed teviloh at least once before he was born, his divine service would have come easier, and all gates would have been open for him (Esser Oros), surely a sofer, about whom Mabit writes in the introduction to his work, that the parshios are endowed with the amount of sanctity the sofer injects into them at the time of writing, obviously injects more sanctity into the parshios if he writes them after immersion, than he would without immersion.

8) Soferim who are accustomed to performing teviloh, are required to continue this practice, since it is considered a vow.⁹ Some rule that it cannot be nullified.¹⁰

9) Some say that the redemption depends on the prayer leaders who perform teviloh z before their prayers.¹¹

The same can be said for soferim, who are like the prayer leaders, since they are the agents of the Jewish community to write tefillin, Mezuzos, and sifrei Torah.

It is important that the prayer leaders should wear tefillin written by a sofer who immersed himself before
10) Those who are called up to the Torah, should immerse themselves. Perhaps it is just as important for the sofer to write after immersing himself.

11) It is customary to immerse oneself three times.

12) Shochtim should adopt a practice to observe teviloh. Since some disqualify the shechitoh performed by shochtim who did not immerse themselves after engaging in marital relations. He should at least, see to pour over himself nine kabbin.

13) Maor Vashemesh (parashath Emor) writes that it possible to conceive of G-d’s awesomeness only if one practices teviloh religiously. If he learns and prays without teviloh, it is impossible, under any circumstances, to grasp the significance of Torah and its mitzvos. If he studies works of kabbalah, he may become an apostate. Shabbethai Zvi’s followers became apostates because they studied Kabbalah without immersing themselves. The two great light towers, the saintly Baal Shem Tov o.b.m. and the Rebbe Elimelech, o.b.m. illuminated the way by explaining that one may not even think of Torah before teviloh. The Sages of the Gemara replealed the law requiring teviloh, merely because the public at large could not comply with this stringency, but those who wish to grasp the essence of the Torah and its commandments, must be careful to perform teviloh reguarly.

How much more is this so when it applies to the very important mitzvos of writing tefillin, mezuzos, and Sifrei Torah, in which one constantly writes the Names of the Al-mighty; which must be written with sanctity?

14) One should eliminate before teviloh. If he does not, he must immerse himself a second time. Others maintain that this applies only to old and sick people (marginal notes of Hagria, rabbi of Sevalyeve, author of Beth Yitzchak on Megilloh, in accordance with R’Yose, for the Rambam decides in his favor, hil. Avoth harumah, ch. 5, quoted by Ketzos Hamatteh 296, Nachal Eshkol quoting Mahariv). Others rule that this applies only on Erev Yom Kippur must one be concerned with this (Rai1, Shalom Ve’emeth 22). Others maintain that we must never be concerned with this (Nachal Eshkol).

15) During the summer, everyone must practice teviloh. In winter we are lenient because of the cold. Nowadays, however, since the place for dressing and undressing is heated, winter and summer have the same stringent rule.

16) One who immerses himself directly in spring water, will attain longevity (as it appears from yerushalmi at the end of the chapter entitled). Some authorities require one to use spring water from the outset (Emden siddur according to some, Halachah LeMosheh), especially one who has not immersed himself for some time, for whom only spring water is of any avail.

17) If spring water is not available, one should use a proper mikveh of forty seah of rain water if possible (to comply with the view of Halachos Cedolos, that a kosher mikveh is required, Mareh Kohen Pethach Einaim, Shalom Ve’emeth). Moreover, some maintain that longevity is assured for those who immerse themselves in rain water mikvaos as well.

18) We have a tradition from tzaddikim, that only kosher mikvaos, not those composed of drawn water, help shochtim prepare their knives properly. Therefore, tzaddikim and shochtim of high levels of piety, would avoid examining their knives until after teviloh. This can also make a difference to soferim concerning their writing.

19) If one has no mikveh of rain water, drawn water is also kosher, i.e. plain sink water, in a pit or a structure fastened to the ground. Immersion of this manner, however, bears no assurance of longevity.

20) If possible, one should see that the sink water does not run directly from the pipes into the mikveh, but should run along the ground or cement, or along anything that never fell into the category of a utensil or vessel, it must run, for at least, a distance of three handbreadths (as in Kol Bo, glosses of Semag, Rivosh). This is twelve inches (thirty centimeters) from the outset, or ten inches if more is impossible (24 centimeters), before it runs into the mikveh (for, according to many authorities, a mikveh is kosher if constructed in this manner, as is explained in Beis Yosef on Yoreh Deah 201), and even though we rule that it is not kosher, Divrei Chamudos in his introduction to Mikvaos, states that this ruling is a Rabbinic stringency, contrary to Imrei Esh. Now, since this immersion is founded solely on a Rabbinic enactment, and especially in these days, when the Rabbis repealed it, the obligation is of light restrictions, and perhaps it is kosher according to all views. If not, he has gone down to the level of two Rabbinic rulings. Therefore, it is proper to do this). These things make a big difference in the country for instance.

21) But shochtim, soferim, tzaddikim and those who perform good deeds, did not rely on such lenient rulings, rather, if given a choice, they would even break the ice, if necessary to observe mikveh.
22) If one has only a vessel, there is a method to perforate the bottom of the of the vessel by making a hole as large as the opening of a bottle, and then to stop it up (approximately 2 inches by 2 inches) (see Berurei Hamiddos p. 32, also Minchas Yitzchak, that some rule stringently to require three inches, but this does not apply to our case), and to pour 40 seahs of rain water or sink water into the mikveh, and one may immerse himself in it. Other authorities require making a hole the size of a pomegranate, fastening the vessel to the ground, and then stopping it up.

23) Some pious men execute the following plan in the country: From the outset, we should have a vessel, 2 ft. wide, 2 ft. long, and 6 ft. high. This is 798 liters or 840 liters or 884 1/2 liters, or 914 liters and 3 decimeters, especially since the authorities write that we should use more water than required and in some places, an even amount of 1000 liters was used. In our case, however, in case of emergency, 300 liters are sufficient, which equal 320 quarts of water.

24) Running water, however, is not acceptable. If one has nothing else, he should, at least, use this in view of the fact that Arugas Habosem qualifies it.

25) If no mikveh is available, some pour nine kabbin over themselves. This procedure is delineated at length in Matteh Ephraim 606:11-16, Kaf Hachaim.

26) The authorities write that with a shower one can perform the rite of pouring 9 kabbin. The water must run in a stream, not in drops.

27) The required amount is from the outset 24 quarts, and in case of emergency, 18 quarts. According to Diveri Yechezkel 13, from the outset it must be 22 6/10 liters, in case of emergency even 17 liters suffice (See Berurei Hamiddoth, mesurah, letter kuf, 65, 66), but if this too is not available, we may rely on Divrei Yechekel, that 11 liters and 1 1/2 decimeters are sufficient (Shalom Ve’emeth 34).

28) Especially today, if one has no alternative but to use 9 kabbin by taking a shower, he should be sure not to be stingy but to allow plenty of water to fall on himself.

29) If one has an alternative, either to use 40 seahs in a vessel, or 9 kabbin, it is better to use 40 seahs in a vessel (Pitchei Teshuvah 88, Shalom Ve’emeth 25, remarks that since the Nachal Eshkol and Divrei Chamudos are lenient in all cases even in a vessel, surely it is superior to 9 kabbin).

30) The uncleanness is visible on one’s forehead until he immerses himself.36

31) Even one who observes teviloh strictly, should not remain idle from learning Torah or prayer if it is impossible to perform teviloh.37

32) If one cannot talk words of holy content, he should at least think about holy things.38 This was the practice of Rabbi Zvi Elimelech of Dinov.

33) Some are strict, however, even regarding thoughts (see above 13).

34) But to neglect to recite Shema at the prescribed time or prayer during its prescribed time is definitely prohibited (Pri Megadim, Yaabetz, Mishnah Berurah. Concerning whether one can count uniform hours in computing the time of Shema, see Shulchan Melachim, p. 36, note 35)

35) Even communal prayer may not be superseded because of lack of teviloh (Mishnah Berurah 2). Others rule, however, that it is better to pray alone in purity than to pray with a minyan without teviloh (Mishmeres Shalom from Koidenov, who comments that we should not follow the Mishnah Berurah’s ruling), and this is the widespread practice (Halachah LeMosheh 20).

36) It is obligatory to see that there should be a warm mikveh daily.

37) The saintly Baal Shem Tov warned that, even in the case of an unavoidable situation, one should strive to immerse himself at least once.39 The Rebbe of Dinov o.b.m. writes the same thing (Mishmereth Shalom 2:1): We have a tradition from the Baal Shem Tov that whoever immerses himself once will suffer no harm.

38) One who practices teviloh even nowadays fulfills a mitzvoh of the Torah.40 And his body becomes purified (ibid. quoting Chinuch). Moreover, it is accounted in Heaven as though we had fasted one day (Rachamei Ha’av).

39) Sefer Lev Sameach writes in name of Grand Rabbi Shalom of Belz that a scholar is very susceptible to colds because of his weakness. The Rabbis, therefore, testify that he who is careful not to neglect teviloh will live long, despite his weakness. (Berachoth 22). A similar statement is found in Responsa Arugath Habosem (Orach Shim Orach Chaim 19). Minchas Shabbos writes that what people say that one can become ill from teviloh in a cold mikveh, is completely untrue.

SHAAREI SHOLOM ON LAWS OF MEZUZOH

Chapter

Places requiring Mezuzos

1) When buying or affixing a mezuzoh, one’s complete intention must be to fulfill the mitzvoh. If he intends it to protect his home, however, it does not protect. "Every G-d-fearing person who wishes to live in his home without fear of evil spirits, should affix a mezuzoh to every door (287:4, Shach).

3) If one owns a hotel, an inn, or any similar establishment, whose purpose is to furnish place for guests for a few days, regardless of whether it is for money or purely for the mitzvoh, the proprietor is obliged to affix a mezuzoh to every doorway (Aruch Hashulchon 286:48). The guest, however, may occupy the room even if the landlord does not affix a mezuzoh to the doorway. Also, the officers of yeshivos are required to affix mezuzos to dormitory rooms.

4) If one has a non-Jewish worker (this is prevalent mostly in hotels, camps, apartment houses, etc.) to whom he gives a separate room, the Jewish landlord is required to affix a kosher mezuzoh to its doorway.

5) All doors in the house required mezuzos, even if one door is locked and is not being used, and a large carton blocks it, it nevertheless, it requires a mezuzoh however, without a blessing if this was done before the door was ever used. Even rooms for small children require mezuzos.

6) it is preferable to personally put on the mezuzoh and from the outset one may not affix a mezuzoh on a place where someone else is required to do so, without his knowledge.
5) From the outset, a man should affix the mezuzah. If a woman did so, it is valid after the fact, therefore advisable to advance the inspection to the proceeding months.

6) In addition, it is apropos to mention that, when one gives his tefillin and mezuzohs to be examined, he should request of the sofer to consider everything related to the parshios, e.g. whether the retzudos are wide enough, whether the square of the battim and stiches is intact, to blacken the tefillin, and also to request that even if the parshios are kosher, whether they can be beautified in any way (Naturally, one must go to additional expense for these things), and one should request of the sofer to teach him how to make the kesher, (the knot) larger or smaller, because, otherwise, the kesher sometimes becomes looser by itself, and the tefillin slips down below the proper place.

One should ask the sofer whether there is any way to improve his tefillin for it is written in the practice of Yismach Moshe, that one must be very meticulous concerning tefillin and mezuzos.

8) Even if one occupies a dwelling outside of his domicile, e.g., if one resides in the suburbs, yet keeps an apartment in the city, or vice-versa, the temporary dwelling requires proper mezuzos, even if he stays there but once in ten years.9

9) If one does not affix a mezuzoh, he violates a positive commandment every minute.10

10) Some authorities rule that if someone failed to affix a mezuzoh to a room, and it is now Shabbos or Yom Tov, if he has another room, he may not remain in the room lacking the mezuzoh. If not, he may occupy it.11

The same applies to weekdays if it is impossible to obtain a mezuzoh12. Others are lenient regarding Shabbos and Yom Tov.13 Others rule more stringently, requiring the occupant to go out into the street.14

Concerning relinquishing ownership, see. Halachah LeMosheh 11:6f. One should, therefore, lose no time, but affix a mezuzoh as soon as he becomes obligated to do so.
11) Not affixing a mezuzoh to a cellar door, or someplace else where it is required, is analogous to going without tefillin.15

Chapter 2

The Order of Affixing the Mezuzoh, Its Place, and Its Blessing

1) The place for the mezuzoh is the beginning of the top third of the height of the door, i.e. the bottom of the mezuzoh should be at the beginning of the top third. We must, therefore, be careful to measure the height of the doorway, and two thirds up from the floor we affix the mezuzoh.

Should this place be higher than the shoulders, one should consult his rabbi, since there is a dispute among the authorities concerning this point.2

In any case, it is an important aspect of beautification for someone building a house, to avoid making the doors too high, so that the top third should begin as high as his shoulders, and for beautifying a mitzvoh, the Rabbis o.b.m. testify that one merits to see the salvation.3

3) Baal Shem Tov o.b.m. is quoted (Daas Kedoshim, 289) as having stated that a mezuzoh should not be in an iron case. Obviously, if one wishes to assure himself against rain, theft, or the likes, he should not be concerned with this, and surely not hesitate to affix the mezuzoh because of this.

4) Some authorities maintain that the nails with which a mezuzoh is affixed to a doorjamb must be fastened so firmly to the doorjamb, so that is impossible to remove them except with a tool and with force (Daats Kedoshim). The mezuzoh should surely not be attached with Scotch Tape. Where the doorposts are metal, a block of wood should be cemented to the doorpost and the mezuzoh should be nailed to it.

5) We must be careful not to drive the nails into the parchment itself, even into the margin, where there is no writing.4
6) From the outset, one should affix the mezuzoh slightly on a slant. This means that the top of the mezuzoh should slant toward the house, and the bottom toward the outside. If one does it in the opposite manner, he should adjust it without reciting the blessing (M.Z.A. 11:6). As long as it appears slantly to the human eye it is sufficient.

7) If the bottom was placed upside down, i.e. with Shema on the bottom and the bottom line on the top, one has not fulfilled the mitzvoh even after the fact.

Therefore, one must be very careful before placing the mezuzoh into the case, that it is being placed in the proper position, for if not, G-d forbid, he will possibly live in his house for years without a mezuzoh.

8) If one inadvertently omitted the blessing, he can no longer recite it.

9) If one has several mezuzos to affix, he should have in mind when reciting the blessing, that it applies to all the mezuzos, and not to speak until he has finished affixing all of them.

Chapter 3
Places Requiring Mezuzos
1) A mikveh or a bathhouse requires no mezuzoh (284:4), but the door to the first room, where the attendant sits, does require one.

2) A garage requires a mezuzoh, but without the blessing.

3) A store, factory, office, as well as other places of business, require mezuzos without reciting a blessing.

4) If one removes a mezuzoh in order to examine it and returns it on the same day, he should not recite the blessing. If it is attached on the following day, he must recite the blessing.

If it is attached on the same day, after several hours, he should think the words of the blessing, but not pronounce them.
5) If the mezuzah was found to be possul, and it is replaced by another one, according to some authorities, a blessing must be recited.\(^4\)

Therefore, one should think of the words of the blessing, but not pronounce them.

6) Even though there is a minimum area to require a mezuzah, a hall from which we enter the other rooms, or a small room which we enter from the street, and from there enter the other rooms, even if they are less than the minimum area, they require mezuzos.\(^5\)

7) It is common practice today, both in Eretz Yisrael and in the Diaspora, to build porches attache to the house. One should know that this requires a mezuzoh (provided it has the minimum area). There is, however, one difference due to the fact that if hs no roof; it has other regulations concerning the requirement to recite the blessing, viz. if it is open to the house, we must recite the blessing, otherwise not. This applies to a porch that usually does not have a roof. An ordinary room that does not have a roof, however, does not require a blessing.

Respect for the Mezuzoh

1) When we sweep the floor, we should not gather the dirt near the mezuzoh, but on the opposite side (Kitzur Shalo). It is reported that, during the period of the Spanish Inquisition, if one of the Marranos was seen sweeping the dirt away from the side of the mezuzoh, it was said that he was still behaving like a Jew, and he was killed as a martyr.\(^1\)

2) If a mezuzoh falls down without the case, there is a dispute whether one must fast.\(^2\)

3) Some authorities rule that if one rents a dwelling for thirty days or more, that he must affix a mezuzoh immediately.\(^3\) Whereas others rule that we must do so only after thirty days.\(^4\) Others rule that it is optional; if he wishes to, he may put it up and recite the blessing.\textsuperscript{5} It is common practice to affix the mezuzos immediately upon moving in, and to recite the prescribed blessing.\textsuperscript{6}

4) In summer dwellings, we must put up mezuzos without a blessing.\textsuperscript{7}

5) One who has mezuzos on his doors and wishes to replace them with others of higher quality, it is preferable to remove them first for inspection and then to replace them with the superior mezuzos\textsuperscript{8} without a blessing; see Maharam Shick 288 and Maharsham Yoreh Deah 7) There are, however, others who do not permit this.\textsuperscript{9}

One must, therefore, consult his rabbi.

6) When one moves out of a dwelling, he may not remove the mezuzoh if another Jew is moving into the dwelling, but he may demand payment from the new tenant, i.e. the value of the mezuzos he is leaving.\textsuperscript{10} If he does remove his mezuzos, he puts himself into grave danger, G-d forbid\textsuperscript{11}. If he hesitates to leave expensive mezuzos, he must consult his rabbi.

7) Some authorities rule that, if one touches a sefer Torah, tefillin, mezuzos, a megilla, or the like, during a meal, he must wash his hands again.\textsuperscript{12} but most authorities do not require it.\textsuperscript{13}

The Supernatural Qualities with which the One Who Observes the Mitzvah of Mezuzoh is Endowed, Instances that Require Exactitude and Time for Inspection

1) As punishment for neglecting the mitzvah of mezuzoh, young children die, G-d forbid.¹

2) It is a Jewish custom that, if one is seriously ill, he gives his mezuzos to be inspected (Taam Hatzevi). Similarly, Likutei Mahariach writes that tefillin that belonged to a deceased person must be inspected before using.

3) We may not write on the oustside of the mezuzoh the name Sha-dai, because it becomes erased through everyone’s placing his hand on it.²

4) I must call the public’s attention to the practice of neglect the inspection of mezuzos of battei midrashim. Apparently, this practice stems from the halachah in the Shulchan Aruch (291), that a public mezuzoh requires inspection but twice in fifty years. This is, however, an error, since this ruling refers only to gates of cities and provinces, and the like (Rashi, Yoma 11, Bach and Responsa Chasam Sofer 283), but mezuzos of bottei midrashim that have officers who take care, require inspection twice every seven years (Lishkas Hasofer, Misgeres Zahav). Moreover, nowadays, many bottei midrashim are owned privately by rabbis, making them private houses in any case. It is, therefore, the duty of the rabbi to arrange the inspection.

All yeshivos, chadarim, camps, hotels, bottei midrashim, and girls' schools that belong to a private owner (or, even if they do not, if there is an individual responsible for the institution) are required to inspect the mezuzos, at least, twice every seven years, and not to disregard a law of the Gemara and the Shulchan Aruch.

5) It is advisable to remove the mezuzos before painting the apartment; lest they become damaged by paint penetrating the interior of the case. That is an opportune time to have them examined. It is advisable to wrap mezuzos in Saran Wrap to preserve them (Rabbi Moshe Feinstein).

6) If there is an old mezuzoh which we do not wish to bother removing, yet we fear it is no longer kosher, we may not affix a new one while the old one is still attache to the doorpost. This constitutes adding a mitzvoh, a practice prohibited by the Torah. we must first remove the old mezuzoh, and then affix the new one. If the old one is undetectable from the outside, no one knows where it is, we may affix the new one without removing the old one. We should purchase beautiful mezuzos.

7) It is obligatory to inspect tefillin and mezuzos twice in seven years. Pious people, however, inspect them every year during the month of Ellul. We must note that sometimes the sofer is rushed, during Ellul, by the multitudes of pious Jews, who wish to have their tefillin and mezuzos examined. It is, therefore, advisable to advance the inspection to the preceding months.

8) One must be very careful, when blackening his tefillin as many laymen do, not to allow any dye do leak into the battim, where it will spoil the parshioth.

9) A walk-in requires a mezuzoh even though it is smaller than the minimum requirement (Chidushei Rabbi Akiva Eger 286).

See Kitzur Shulchan Aruch 24:5: “If doubt arises concerning any letter, and in order to determine its validity, it must be shown to a child, neither smart nor stupid, i.e. one who does not understand the matter, but recognizes the letters.”

Hence, he must learn to recognize the letters as they are written in the sefer Torah.

The letters should have three small zeyins on the second part of the letter. The soferim write in sifrei Torah and mezuvos as “רי,” and in tefillin as “ד”, (according to the kabbalah of Arizal).

Scribes’ ink is made by various methods (see Keses Hasofer, Meir Einei Hachamim, and Tikkun Soferim). The easiest method and most popular one is as follows: 30 grams of gum arabic, 30 grams gallnuts, preferably crushed 1/4 liter water. Mix all ingredients and boil over the fire until only 1/2 is left. After it cools off, it is suitable for writing.

In Russia, the soferim were accustomed to making ink by the following method: 2 liters spirit, 1/2 lb. gallnuts crushed into large particles and to put them into the spirit to soak (for ten days) until the spirit turns red. Then the spirit is poured into a frying pan and ignited. After that, burnt ferrous sulphate is added, 8 grams, gum arabic 8 grams, crushed sugar 5 grams and the ink is permitted to burn until only 1/3 remains. Then is the best type of ink. The remainder may be used by adding a little water and boiling it a second time until it becomes black. This ink, however, is not good as the first

Important Rules - For All Mitzvos

1) The Zohar (Terumah) states that a person must pay for every mitzvoh he does (introduction to Chareidim).

2) Even mitzvos of Rabbinic origin must also be purchased for money.¹

3) If one has the wherewithal to purchase the mitzvoh for money, yet he does it for nothing, by receiving a gift, he receives no reward for it.² One must, therefore, make certain to pay for an ethrog, matzos, and whoever eats in anyone’s sukkah, even a son-in-law, who is a guest of his father-in-law must participate financially by contributing to the expenses of the sukkah, the matzos, the wine for kiddush and arba kosos, and the like, concerning all other mitzvos, because, according to the kabbalists,³ a mitzvoh which is not paid for has virtually no value.

4) According to the Zohar, before one pays for a mitzvoh, he must prepare the money and say, “I prepare this money for such and such a mitzvoh.”

5) Some rule that we may not recite a blessing over a mitzvoh that was not paid for.⁴ Although we do not adhere to this ruling, we must, nevertheless, reflect on the gravity of performing a mitzvoh without paying for it, and, if at all possible, to pay for every mitzvoh.

6) The kabbalists write that it is proper for a person to give as much money as is asked of him, or a mitzvoh, and not to stand and bargain as the merchants do. He should surely not say, "for that price, I do not it end to buy the esrog," for that constitutes a degradation of G-d's mitzvoh.\(^5\) Such was the practice of Rabbi Isac Luria Ashkenazi o.b.m. better known as Ari Zal. Sometimes he would put down a bag of money before the dealer and say, "take as much as you want, but give me the mitzvoh.\(^6\)

8) If a mitzvoh is performed by a number of people, each one is rewarded as though he would have performed the mitzvoh by himself. This is the origin of the custom of the chevra Shass, each member of which completes a tractate every yer, and the entire membership makes an annual sium on Shass. This is accounted as though every member had finished the entire Shass. Similarly, a sefer Torah is written with the participation of many.\(^7\)

9) Respect for a mitzvoh is not planning how to do or prepare it while in the lavatory, e.g. to plan the building of the sukkah, the grinding of the wheat and the baking of the matzos, etc.\(^8\)

Chapter 2
Mitzvos with Intention

1) Before performing a mitzvoh, one must have in mind that he intends to perform the mitzvoh as the Creator commanded.\(^1\) The obligation is ordered by the Torah\(^2\) Even a Rabbinic ordinance requires intention from the outset\(^3\). According to some authorities, one has not fulfilled the mitzvoh even after the fact unless he had intention to do so.\(^4\). Some rule that if one did not have intention to fulfill the mitzvoh of reciting the Hallel, he must repeat it without a blessing.\(^5\) This intention must be pronounced orally.\(^6\)
2) In Kad Hakemach we find that one must have three intentions before reciting Shema, to wit: 1) the mitzvoh of learning Torah, 2) to fulfill the mitzvoh of reciting Shema, and 3) to fulfill the mitzvoh of intention, which, in itself, is a Torah obligation according to many authorities.

3) In conclusion, we must have intention to fulfill every mitzvoh we perform, both Biblical and Rabbinical. Before performing a Rabbinic commandment, we must intend to fulfill the mitzvoh of⁷ "and you shall do according to the thing...and yu shall not turn away...⁸

4) In addition to the intention to fulfill the commandment, we must have in mind the intention to fulfill the commandment of intention (Kad Hakemach) If one had no intention to fulfill a mitzvoh of the Torah, he did not fulfill it. The same is true of a Rabbinic enactment performed through speaking.

Nonetheless, there are various details in this matter. Therefore, concerning a fait accompli, one must consult a competent rabbi. From the outset, however, all authorities concur that we must have intention to fulfill the mitzvoh, and we must pronounce this intention orally (as aforementioned). When we may not talk, we must have this intention in mind.⁹

Various Examples

Let us cite several examples from the halachic authorities. The same applies to all mitzvos.

l) Before reciting Shema, we must have intention.¹⁰ See below II.

2) Before reciting the section dealing with tzitzis, we must intend to fulfill the mitzvoh of mentioning the departure from Egypt.¹¹
3) Before the blessings on the Torah, one must have two intentions, that of the blessings of the Torah, and that of the study of the Torah itself.

4) Before the confession following the Shemoneh Esrey. This too is a positive commandment.

5) Before reciting Grace after Meals.

6) Before the blowing of the shofar.

7) Before the mitzvoh of sukkah (625).

8) Before washing to eat.

9) Before putting on tzitzis or tefillin (8,25).

6) So we find scattered throughout the rabbinic literature the intentions we must have for every action or deed, e.g. in the Hanhagos Tovos, good practices, of Yismach Mosheh (23); When one goes with his head covered, he should think to fulfill the mitzvoh of covering the head and the mitzvoh of not going with the head erect for four cubits.

7) I remind myself that once I chanced to be at a banquet with the saintly Grand Rabbi of Skulene. I happened to bring him an item he required. He, immediately, asked me whether I had intended to fulfill the mitzvoh of gemilus chasadim, acts of kindness.

You can also find in Shulchan Hatahor and Kaf Hachaim a formula to recite before eating. This includes the intention for a series of mitzvos we fulfill at a meal, viz. washing the hands, blessings before partaking of food, dipping bread in salt, talking of torah, washing before Grace after meals, Grace after meals, the invitation to recite Grace when three males eat together, Kiddush on Sabbath and festivals, recited immediately before the meal, enjoyment of the Shabbos, the two Shabbos loaves, eating fish (Magen Avraham 242) etc.

8) At this time, I wish to call your attention to certain mitzvos for which a formula has been composed to recite before performing them. It is, indeed, surprising that no mention is made of the intention to fulfill the mitzvoh.

1) The prayer, beginning with the words, “Hareini mithattef,” Behold I enwrap myself, recited before putting on the tallith. It is proper to add the following:

Behold I enwrap my body with a fringed garment, to fulfill the commandment of my Creator, Who commanded us to enwrap ourselves with a fringed garment, as is stated in the Torah, “And they shall make for themselves fringes on the corners of their garments to their generations, and so may my soul ...(Siddur Reb Koppel). See below, Laws of Tzitzis, and in Emek Yehoshua, for a slightly variant wording.

2) The same is true of the prayer, “Yehi ratzon,” recited before the mitzvah of lulav and ethrog. We should say, as follows:

Behold I am prepared to fulfill the commandment of my Creator to take these four species: the palm branch, the ethrog, the myrtle, and the willow, as is stated in the Torah: “And you shall take to you the fruit of goodly trees, palm branches, and bows of braided trees, and willows of the břoּk, and may it be your will...

We should not forget, when we wake up in the morning to have in mind to fulfill the mitzvoh of tzitzis when we put on the tallis koton.

3) Consequently, it is important also, in the case of tefillin and sukkoּh, although there is a formula already to recite, that we have in mind what we say. The same is true of the counting of the Omer.

4) Those mitzvos for which the Torah gives a reason, we must have the reason in mind, as well as the mitzvoh itself.¹⁶

5) When avoiding infracting negative commandments, too, we must have intention.¹⁷ Therefore, when we cut our hair, we must have in mind to fulfill the commandment of not rounding the corners of the head, and not destroying the corners of the beard. Likewise, when we refrain from talking, we should have in mind the fulfill the interdiction of falsehood, slander, gossip, and scorn.¹⁸

6) The Kabbalists write¹⁹ that we must fulfill all 613 commandments. Now, since it is impossible to fulfill them all, the Derech Pikkudecha third introduction, suggests several plans: 1. for the mitzvoth he has no possiblility of performing, when his friend fulfills them, he should assist him, either physically or financially; 2) he should say before every mitzvah, and the 613 mitzvot dependent upon it; 3) those mitzvos that are equal to all the mitzvos together, such as tzitzis and Shabbos, must be observed with greater stringency; or the first and last mitzvoh to fulfill as we should.

How to make a kesher shel yad
How to make a kesher shel rosh according to Ashkenazik practice and Sephardic practice
In 1935 about 100 of Europe's most prestigious Rabbis and Jewish leaders signed a declaration setting forth the urgent need for an organization to improve observance of the mitzvos of Sefer Torah, Tefillin and Mezuza. Below is the last paragraph of this declaration and the list of participants:
Take the black side of the retzuah toward yourself, and take the end of the retzuah and bend it over the long side of the retzuah, inserting the end over it as in Fig. I.

After you tighten the retzuah, you will see the form of a “yud,” as in Fig. II

Turn the retzuah over with the black side to the outside and place the long side on the short side like a loop, as in Fig. III.
Hold the loop with your two fingers, and place the “yud” next to the lup, and it will appear like loops, one long and one short, as in Fig. IV.

Now hold it with your two fingers, and draw the long loop through the short loop, as in Fig. V.
While you are still holding the long loop within the small one, draw the "yud" through the short loop over the long one, as in Fig. VI.

When you tighten the kesher, it will appear as in Fig. VII.

Take the long retzuah and pull it through the maabarta of the tefillin shel yad up to the kesher, as in Fig. VIII.
Take the retzuah and pull it through the loop which is outside the kesher, as in Fig. IX.

Lay the tefillin on your left arm; on the muscle. The kesher shall be toward the heart and the maabarta, through which the retzuah is pulled, shall be on top, and before tightening it, recite the blessing, "Lehaniach Tefillin," as in Fig. X.

One must be careful that the tefillin does not move closer to the elbow than the width of two fingers, and he should wind the retzuah around the arm seven times. Then put on the head tefillin (shel rosh) and recite the proper blessing. Then you wind the retzuah around the middle finger, once around the middle joint and twice around the bottom joint, as in Fig. XI.
The black side of the retzuah place toward you, and take the end of the retzuah in your right hand and bring it over on top of the long side like a loop, and insert it through it, as in Fig. I.

After you tighten the retzuah, it will appear like a “yud”, as in Fig. II.

Take the end of the retzuah in your left hand, and turn it over with the black side toward the outside and place the long side over the short side like a loop, as in Fig. III.
Hold the loop with your two fingers, and place the "yud" next to the loop, and it will appear like two loops, one long and one short, as in Fig. IV.

Now hold the two loops with your two fingers and place the long loop into the short one, as in Fig. V.
While you hold the long loop in the short one, pull the “yud” through the short loop above the long loop, as in Fig. VI.

When you pull the retzuah with one hand and the loop with the other hand, the kesher will appear as in Fig. VII.

Pull the loop through the shel yad up to the kesher, as in Fig. VIII.
Take the retzuah and pull it through the loop that comes out of the maabarta, as in Fig. IX.

Place the "shel yad" on your left arm on the muscle, with the kesher toward the heart and the maabarta on top, and before tightening it, recite the blessing, "Lehaniach tefillin." See Fig. X.

One must be careful that the tefillin does not move down closer to the elbow than the width of two fingers, and he should wind the retzuah around the arm seven times. Then put on the head tefillin (shel rosh) and recite the proper blessing. Then you wind the retzuah around the middle finger, once around the middle and twice around the bottom joint, as in Fig. XI.
In all the illustrations, the left retzuah is designated as retzuah 1, and the right one as retzuah 2.

Take retzuah 1 and double it like a loop, and also do that to retzuah 2. Now put the loop of retzuah 1 into the loop of retzuah 2, as in Fig. I.

Then take the end of retzuah 2 and insert it into the loop of retzuah 1, as in Fig. II.

Again pull retzuah 2 through the loop of retzuah 1, as in Fig. III.

Take the end of retzuah 1 and pull it through the loop of retzuah 2, which is pulled up, as in Fig. IV.
Now hold the two ends of the retzuos and pull them until they become tight, and the kesher will appear as in Fig. V.

Turn over the kesher and see whether the kesher looks like Fig. VI.

In order to recognize the difference between Rashi’s Tefillin and Rabbenu Tam’s, note the following:
In Rashi’s the hairs are thrust into the groove on the side.
In Rabbenu Tam’s, the hairs are thrust into the center groove.
The arrows with the numbers indicate the length of the retzuah from beginning to end. To avoid confusion, the numerals referring to retzuah 1 are encircled.

Take retzuah (1) and double it like a loop. Do likewise to retzuah 2 and place the loop of retzuah 2 over the loop of retzuah (1), as in Fig. I. Then bend the loop of retzuah (1) over the loop of retzuah 2, as in Fig. II.
Place the end of retzuah (1) into the loop of retzuah (1) and pull it through, as in Fig. III.

Again thrust retzuah (1) into its loop and pull it through, as in Fig. IV.
Then pull down the end of retzua 2, so that it hangs down, as in Fig. V.

Take the end of retzua (1) and thrust it into the loop of retzua 2, as in Fig. VI.
Again insert the end of retzuah (1) into the loop of retzuah 2 and pull it through there, as in Fig. VII.

Hold the two ends and pull the retzuos until they are tight and the retzuah is made properly, as in Fig. VIII.

The front of the tefillin may not lie below the hairline, and the kesher must lie in the back of the head at the bottom of the skull, in the beginning of the groove, as in Fig. X.

If one put on tefillin lower, as in Fig. XI. it is as though he did not put them on at all. The blessings he recited are in vain, and his punishment will be severe. It is, therefore, important to make sure that the shel rosh is in the exact place.
This is the PROBLEM...

Concerning the Mitzvah of Mezuzah
This booklet contains alarming facts about Mezuzahs all over the world. Its purpose is to warn the buyer to beware of purchasing invalid mezuzos. If one is careless in buying mezuzos, he endangers himself and his family both in this world and in the next. We cite numerous cases indicating this.

INTRODUCTION

Unfortunately, laxity and chaos prevail in the observance of the mitzvah of mezuzoh all over the world. Whereas writing mezuzos is, according to the Torah, a holy pursuit, to be practiced by learned, G-d-fearing men, it has now become greatly commercialized. Many youths, unlearned in this field, and bereft of the fear of G-d, are now engaedic in writing mezuzos. Since the populace is unfamiliar with the proper formation of the letters, in fact, even the scholars are unfamiliar, it is fairly easy to deceive the unsuspecting customer, who, innocently, purchases invalid mezuzos, represented as kosher.

The results are, indeed, tragic. Not only do many Jews fail to fulfill the mitzvos of tefillin and mezuzos all their lives, but, additionally, they are subject to the horrible punishments visited upon them from Heaven, as is elaborated upon in the codes, and witnessed daily.

I have, therefore, taken upon myself to publicize this matter, both by printing leaflets and posters and by publishing books concerning this situation.

To inform those who are unfamiliar and to remind those who are, of the gravity of the situation, I cite many incidents that have occurred during the past five decades, as well as those that have occurred during our own lifetime, numerous stories of various misfortunes that have befallen our brethren, who have inadvertently, failed to fulfill this precious mitzvah, even instances in which the victims were in no way to be blamed for this neglect.

In this booklet, I point out all these facts, trusting that our brethren will be aroused to be conscientious in their observance of this commandment. Additionally, I suggest various plans to make this possible.

In the merit of observing this mitzvah, the Guardian of Israel will protect us from all misfortunes, and we will live to experience the rebuilding of Zion and Jerusalem in the near future, Amen.

THE IMPORTANCE OF KOSHER MEZUZOS
I A CALL TO TESHUVA

In recent years, many tragedies, both spiritual and physical, have befallen the Jewish people.

Many Torah scrolls, as well as hundreds of pairs of Tefillin, have been stolen or burned at a loss of thousands of dollars.

Numerous synagogues, yeshivos and botei midrashim, where the sounds of Torah and Tefiloh were heard for years, have been abandoned and destroyed.

Jews, who believe in divine providence, surely realize that this does not come about by chance.

The Rambam in Mishneh Torah states that if Jews believe that misfortune comes upon them by chance, Hashem will increase their suffering so much more so. It is, therefore, evident from the Rambam’s words that when such tragedies occur, it is incumbent upon us to seek out their causes and rectify them to the best of our abilities.

II THE APPROACH TO TESHUVA

Teshuva, repentance, is achieved by an intense effort to effect a change for the better in the service of Hashem.

Our holy seforim have given us detailed prescriptions to assist us to accomplish our goal. Of upmost importance in this “Teshuva process” is fasting. The abstention from food and drink for an entire day has always been imposed by our Rabbis in reaction to the tragic misfortune of the defilement of Torah scrolls, Tefillin and Mezuzos. The following is a description of the conduct defined by our sages in such circumstances.

III THE PUBLIC FAST.

As a result of such degradations of sacred objects (as mentioned above) a public fast day is proclaimed.

The Beis Din (rabbinical court) together with the elders of the community gather with the entire Jewish populace in the main Beis Hamedresh of their town. The Beis Din and the elders then set about examining and inquiring into the existing conditions that could have caused so unfortunate an occurrence to take place. The Beis Din will then establish various safeguards and precautions to ensure stricter halachic observance in the future.

Following this, the leaders of the community will then preach to the community, exhorting them to serve Hashem with true devotion and castigating those guilty of dishonesty, stealing, and improper conduct with their fellow Jews. Such individuals are publicly scolded and separated from the midst of the congregation. This is the procedure for the first half of the public fast day.

The second half of the day is spent in prayer, reading appropriate portions from the Torah, and soul-searching repentance, and concluding with Viduy—the confession of sins.

From these words of our holy sages much can be learned:
1. The fast, albeit important, is only a secondary feature of the day.
2. The main thrust of the day is for the Jewish community to repent with a remorseful heart for misdeeds of the past, and an acceptance to be better in the future.
3. Another central factor is the involvement of the town’s leaders to locate and rectify the religious laxities that prevail in the town that may have been the cause of the tragic occurrences.
4. According to the Rambam, the sins of stealing, dishonesty, and improper conduct between fellow Jews, are as severe as all other sins combined in regards to bringing such misfortune upon Jews.

Dear Reader, please realize that by fasting alone we are far from fulfilling our obligations on such a day. According to great Torah luminaries, such as the Rambam, the Tur, etc. the fast is of secondary importance in respect to the self-examination and soul-searching that is required of us in such a time.

Therefore, it is incumbent upon every individual, without fail, to consider and understand why Hashem has sent such tragedy and misfortune upon us, our holy places, and holy objects in recent years. We must also try to rectify our own homes as far as possible. For example, our tefillin and mezuzos must be submitted for examination at the prescribed intervals, and we dare not be lax or procrastinating in this respect.

The Torah scrolls (which are extremely vulnerable to decay) must be examined regularly and other daily halachic requirements, such as kashruth, tzeniyus, chinuch, tzitzis, taharas hamispacha, etc. must be carefully regulated.

The following is the advice given by Rav Yehuda Greenwald z.l. who was Rov in the town of Satmar which he gave when two Torah scrolls and other holy objects were burned in the town of Tshand in the year 5671.

IV When Torah scrolls are burned

In the responsa Zichron Yehuda, Rav Yehuda Greenwald of Satmar prescribed the following redress when two Torah scrolls and other religious objects were burned.

1. The congregation should be warned to give more honor to the Torah and to refrain from talking during the reading of the Torah.
2. Every Friday, the Torah reader should read through the portion to be read the following day in the Torah scroll to ensure that all letters are still intact.
3. A Sofer (scribe) should be engaged by the community to examine the Mezuzos in every home, and if possible, all Tefillin.

V Unfit Sifrei Torah

It is, unfortunately a pitiful shame to say that a great many of our synagogues have "Posul" (halachically unfit) Torah scrolls and even those Torahs that can be deemed halachically kosher are only minimally so.

Indeed, this may very well be the cause that so many Torah scrolls are burned and stolen. (This is evident from the responsa quoted above.)

Therefore, I make this plea to all Rabbis, Gaboim, Shamoshim and communal leaders, whose responsibility it is to ensure their congregations of kosher Torah scrolls, to have their Torah scrolls submitted to examination by a qualified, G-d fearing sofer.
Note! It is possible that the examination of the Torah scrolls may be held up due to the large monetary expense involved. Therefore, it is a good idea to collect monies from the congregants especially for this cause. They will gladly contribute, since it is they who have the most to gain, since they will thus be saved from making blessings in vain, etc.

VI A Plea to the Community.

Each and every individual called up to the reading of the Torah, who notices the slightest irregularity in the written letters and words of the Torah, is obligated according to halacha to inform the Rov and other congregational leaders of this fact. For example, if a letter has begun to fade, and the blackness of the ink has begun to lighten, the Torah scroll becomes "Posul". If letters are touching one another, or if they were not originally formed correctly the Torah is likewise posul, and should one see this, he must inform the Rov of this.

VII Forty Thousand Jews Wore Posul Tefillin for Years!

The responsa Rav Polum describes the tragedy of how the entire city of Bagdad, Iraq (c1870), a city of forty thousand observant Jews wore posul Tefillin for many years. The Tefillin were not perfectly square as directed by Halacha, therefore, making them ritually unfit. A visitor from another country noticed this and brought it immediately to the attention of the Rov of the city, Rav Yosef Chayim o.b.m. the "Ben Ish Chayim". The Rov, a holy gaon and tzadik acted to correct the situation at once.

Dear Reader, please see how the neglect of one of the smallest of details of tefillin can cause so great a stumbling block.

Unfortunately, our generation is no better, and the michsholim (stumbling blocks) still abound.

The following is a list of problems which frequently occur in the "Batim" - the cases of tefillin, and the solutions to prevent and correct such instances.

1. Problem: Tefillin are oft-times found not to be perfectly square as directed by halacha.
Solution: Measure the "Batim" with a ruler marked in millimeters or with a paper as described by the Mishne Brura (Hilchos Tefilin, 32)

2. Problem: The threads with which the seams of the Batim are sewn must also be square but frequently are not.
Solution: Same as solution [1]. The Chaye Odom states that this happens even amongst the best Sofrim.

3. Problem: The bottom layer or brim of the tefillin must also be square, but frequently is not.
Solution: The same as solution [1].

4. Problem: Although tefillin were perfectly square when they were new, through use and mishandling they may become deformed slightly. Should this occur, it must be corrected immediately.

5. Problem: Many times, new “Batim” are not formed perfectly square, so the sofer will apply a type of plaster to make up the difference. (Nodeh Beyehuda, 1 - Chaye Odom 14,2.)
Solution: To ensure yourself of a truly kosher pair of tefillin, purchase “white” batim, meaning that they have not as yet been dyed black. Then have them dyed black and have the parchments inserted.

6. Problem: A common occurrence is that the tefillin worn on the head is not engraved properly, thus rendering it posul. According to halocha, the tefillin of the head must be clearly discernable from that of the arm. This is accomplished by the engravings made on the case of the head-tefillin.
Solution: The solution to this problem as well as to the hundreds of other halachic questions pertaining to tefillin is to purchase them as described in solution [5] and to deal only with a qualified, G-d fearing sofer.

VIII Dishonest Sofrim

The Chasam Sofer o.b.m. wrote (part 6, 63) that many dishonest Sofrim exist, who mislead an unsuspecting public. “There are hundreds of Orthodox Jews who have never worn kosher Tefillin, and the Rabbonim disregard the obligation upon them to inform their congregation of this fact.”
The Keses HaSofer (Rav Shlomo Ganzfried) writes similarly in the name of the Mishnas Chachomim.

The Chaye Odom writes that the majority of sofrim in his time were not Torah scholars and many were not even G-d fearing.

"Their actions disqualify them and their work. Any blessing said upon their Torahs or Tefillin is a blessing in vain.

If this was the case back then, what can we say today?!"

IX JEWS ARE WEARING PAPER TEFILLIN

It is a shame to say that there are currently many Jews who are wearing Tefillin made with PLASTIC BATIM and PAPER SCROLLS (instead of parchment as directed by halacha).

Extreme care must be taken when purchasing Tefillin to acquire them only from observant, G-d fearing merchants and sofrim.

X BAR MITZVAH "SETS".

I once happened to be in a Hebrew book store when a man came in and asked for a "bar mitzvah set". The shopkeeper asked him how much he was interested in spending, and he replied he would spend up to twenty-five dollars.

Just imagine what that "set" was worth (from a halachic standpoint)! The batim were plastic, and the scrolls were paper! The talis was some kind of multi-colored scarf with nylon strings hanging from its corners! This "set" contained three potential blessings made in vain with each use, and worse yet, the inability ever to fulfill the mitzvah of talis and tefillin.

Anyone involved in the manufacture of tefillin can testify that even for $35.00 to $40.00 it is impossible to produce a KOSHER pair of tefillin. The community at large are ignorant of these facts, and the rabbis are not committed enough to effect a change for the better in this area.

XI A Call to Roshei Yeshiva and Deans of Yeshivos.

Unfortunately, new obstacles present themselves everyday, and, simultaneously, ignorance in this field is running rampant. Consequently, more and more invalid tefillin and mezuzos are being distributed, It is, therefore, incumbent upon every ben Torah to do all in his power to eradicate this terrible practice and guard himself and his home against this in the future.

One solution would be for the yeshivos to teach a course in the Halachos of Sifrei Torah, Mezuzos, and tefillin consisting of Tractate Menochos, Shulchan Oruch and Tur Orach Chayim-chap 32-37.

The forming of the letters should also be taught by a qualified G-d fearing sofer, so that a ben Torah who purchases tefillin or mezuzos should be able to determine their validity for himself.

Another praiseworthy practice is for each synagogue and beis medrash to engage a sofer to come at appointed times and examine the congregants' tefillin and mezuzos. The cost should be shared by the congregants or be covered by the congregation.

XII BLESSING THROUGH KOSHER TEFILLIN

Recently a story circulated, that an observant Jew who had been childless for many years was blessed with a child.

One day, when he submitted his tefillin for examination, the sofer was startled to find the word “your children” entirely missing from the parchment scroll within his tefillin. He promptly bought new kosher tefillin and a year later was blessed with a child.

XIII A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY FROM NOT EXAMINING MEZUZOS

A disturbing story was heard recently in Israel about a young child who was taken ill. A friend of the child’s father advised him to examine his mezuzos, as this is a well-known hasidic custom. The child’s father scoffed at this and said that all the child needed was to see a good doctor and nothing more. A short while later the child, unfortunately, passed away. During the week of mourning the father’s friend took down the mezuzos in the mourners’ home. To their shock they found the word “your children” had faded from the parchment!

XIV THE EFFECT OF TEFILLIN AND MEZUZOS

In Bnei Brak, Israel lived a Jew who suffered from heart troubles. He was advised by his Rebbe to examine his tefillin and mezuzos.

To his shock and dismay, he discovered that one of his Mezuzos did not contain the word "thy heart".

He replaced all his Mezuzos with new kosher ones and was blessed with a full recovery.

Here are a few more instances where words in mezuzos and tefillin can have a direct effect upon the lives of their owners.

One whose business has failed should check the word מָאוֹר "your possessions".

One who suffers from insomnia should check בְּשָׁכַר "your lying down".

One who has problems with children should check יְהִי יַמִּיס "to lengthen your days and the days of your children".

One who has problems earning a livelihood should look at אֲשֶׁר יִגְנָב "that you may gather your grain".

One who suffers stomach disorders should check אֲבָלָה וְשֶבֶשַׁת "thou shall eat and be satisfied".

One where child suffers learning disabilities should check לְמָרֵתוֹ אֲחַמָּה וְבוֹנָה "thou shalt teach thy children".

One who fears from thieves should check בְּשָׁכַר בֶּן הָרֶץ "when you dwell at home".

One who has had an accident should check בְּלִכְתֵּר בֶּרֶךְ "when you travel on a journey".

One who has doubts in belief and trust in Hashem should check יְהֵת יָלַכְתָּמ "should your heart be deceived".

One who has not been blessed with children should check קִרְשׁ לִי בְּכָר "sanctify to me every first-born" or מִי יִנֵּס "the days of your children".

One who does not desire to learn Torah should check וְרָבָּה בְּמָי הָדְרֶךְ "and thou shalt speak of them" meaning the words of Torah.

One who suffers pain in his hands should check the words יֶרֶךְ יִנֵּס "your hand".

One who suffers pain in his eyes should check the words עֲנֵבִים "your eyes".
MEZUZOS and TEFILLIN must be examined when purchased and at least twice within seven years. Many kehilos in Europe enforced a ruling that tefillin and mezuzos must be examined during the month of Elul. Would that we do the same!

XV THE IMPORTANCE OF KOSHER MEZUZOS
A CALL TO ALL JEWS

Recently, there appeared in the orthodox monthly newspaper "The Torah World" an announcement concerning the neglect of mezuzos on summer homes such as hotels, bungalows and summer camps. These places usually have mezuzos which are unfit, have become unfit with time, or have none at all. The reasons for this are as follows:

1. Observant Jews, who are extremely strict about mezuzos at home, are generally lenient when they move into their summer homes. They justify themselves with the reasoning that it is just for two months and the mezuzos that are there will be sufficient.

2. Even when one is willing to affix new mezuzos for the summer, he seeks to spend as little money as possible and therefore buys Mezuzos that are questionable as to their validity.

3. Many Jews mistakenly think that Mezuzos for summer homes are not all that necessary!

4. Many Jews refrain from affixing kosher mezuzos from fear of having to leave them at the end of the summer, and thus losing the money spent on them.
Now, dear readers, let us take a good look at what these summer homes cost. The bungalow alone costs nearly one thousand dollars. Moving expenses are one hundred fifty to two hundred dollars, while various daily needs and food costs add another three hundred dollars to the total. Each child that goes to a summer camp costs his parents five hundred dollars. Without including many other expenses which come up, you can see how the summer costs thousands of dollars! Why is it that when it comes to spending a few more dollars for KOSHER MEZUZOS, that there is not enough money?

Even those who do buy kosher Mezuzos forget that they must be examined just as the mezuzos in their homes.

Happily, we can report that many Jews have been alerted to these facts, and the situation has improved greatly. The Rabbonim have especially realized the gravity of this matter and have exhorted their congregations to be more exacting in their observance of this holy and important MITZVAH.

The results were extremely heartening. Many families, upon arrival at their summer homes, began to check their mezuzos.

In one bungalow, the owner opened his mezuzoh and nearly fainted. On a paper inside the mezuzah case was a picture of a monkey! In the same bungalow colony, another mezuzoh was found to have the “Parshiyos” printed on paper. Still another mezuzah was found to have an empty paper within it, and so the entire colony did not have one kosher mezuzah among its thirty bungalows! For many years, truly observant families lived entirely without mezuzos.

In another bungalow colony, a father of two children was drowned. In that colony were found many empty mezuzah cases, an unfit (posul) mezuzah and even mezuzah cases which contained pieces of a Megilas Esther cut into pieces and inserted within them.
Therefore, we plead with anyone who has not as yet examined his mezuzos in his summer home (and of course in his year-round home) to please have mercy on your children and have all mezuzos examined by a qualified, G-d fearing scribe. Our rabbis of blessed memory state (Tractate Shabbos 32b) that through the neglect of the mitzvah of mezuza young children are taken away from this life.

The mezuzah acts as a guardian for Jews, wherever they go. Many tragedies have occurred in recent years with many accidents taking place in the summer months. You have now every chance to spend a few extra dollars and protect yourself with truly kosher mezuzos in your summer homes as well as your homes in the city. In this fashion you will be protected at all times and in all places.

The Importance of Kosher Mezuzos

As a response to our previous bulletin on the extreme importance of kosher Mezuzos it appears that the Jewish community has awakened from a deep sleep. What’s more, it is evident from the responses I have received that many Jews were not even aware that mezuzos require examination at all! Many others did not realize that summer homes require kosher Mezuzos as well as their year-round homes.

Therefore, it is incumbent upon every rabbi to instruct his congregation to have their mezuzos and tefillin checked by a G-d fearing qualified scribe as well as purchasing only top-quality Tefillin and Mezuzos regardless of cost.

The holy Satmar Rebbe o.b.m. at a rabbinical convention nearly twenty years ago, condemn the use of Mezuzos and Tefillin which are being mass-produced in the thousands. Part of the blame for this tragedy, the Rebbe said, lies upon the rabbis who are negligent in warning their congregations to this outrage.

We have found through experience that the best way to examine the kashruth of these Tefillin and Mezuzos is to have them examined by a second Sofer - not the one selling them.
Rabbis should likewise instruct their congregants as to the proper attachments of the mezuzos. For example, the correct angle at which it is to be attached, when the blessing is to be made, the height at which the mezuzoh should be attached, and which rooms require a mezuzah and which do not.

XVI THE PRICE OF MEZUZOS

Unfortunately, many observant Jews, who do not spare any expense for the proper observance of mitzvos, seem to look to save money when it comes to purchasing truly kosher Tefillin, Mezuzos etc. For weddings, Bar Mitzvahs, furniture and other personal needs, thousand of dollars are squandered, while for the ten or fifteen dollar difference between questionable and kosher mezuzos the expense suddenly becomes too great!

Since, all mitzvos today, are tied into business (and money making) one who sells mezuzos seeks to produce them quickly and with the least expense involved. A glance at these cheaply made mezuzos will readily reveal their lack of workmanship and care. Here are a few instances of how these inexpensive mezuzos are made:

1) Many are printed on paper!
2) Many are printed on parchment!
3) Many are written on paper!
4) Many are written by women and children!
5) Many are written by irreligious Jews!
6) Many are written on the holy Shabbos day!
7) Many are written on a paper which is made to look like parchment!
8) Many are written by scribes, who whish to earn as much money as possible, and, therefore, write their mezuzos hurriedly. Due to their speed many letters are formed incorrectly or are touching one another, thus invalidating them.

Such are 97 per cent of mezuzos currently being manufactured today.

Dear Reader!

If you want to ensure yourself and your family a long, happy and healthy life, don’t try to save a few dollars. Buy the most kosher mezuzos money can buy and have them examined by a G-d fearing Sofer.

If you want to purchase the most expensive gold and jewelry, you cannot protect yourself against thefts and break-ins, even with the most elaborate security systems if there are not kosher mezuzos on the doors.

If you wish to protect your expensive furniture and belongings, attach a kosher mezuzah on your doors and you will have no more worries. To guard yourself against any and all calamities, misfortunes, and illnesses make sure all your Mezuzos are kosher and examined regularly.

You must remember that aside from the responsibility for the physical well-being of your household, you are also required to provide for your spiritual well-being and that of your family, which can only be insured by the use of kosher Mezuzos and Tefillin.

XVII MEZUZOS IN PLACES OF BUSINESS

It is of great importance to point out that all stores, offices, etc., where a Jew conducts his business are required to have kosher mezuzos on all their door-posts. Many Jews mistakenly believe that since they do not eat or sleep in these places a cheaper mezuzah, or no mezuzah at all, is necessary. This, however, according to the Shulcan Oruch, is not true.

Every Jew is responsible for Mezuzos. Every Jew is required to guard himself and his family from questionable tefillin and mezuzos. Whenever visiting a friend, relative, or acquaintance at their home, he must alert them to the problems with Mezuzos and advise his host to have them checked by a Sofer. Should he see a small mezuzah or one incorrectly affixed to the door, he must alert the owner to this fact. The same holds true when one sees a place of business, or even a synagogue, with a questionable mezuzah or no mezuzah at all. (Note: A synagogue is also required to have their mezuzos examined twice within seven years.)

XVIII QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON MEZUZOS

Q. May one remove the mezuzos upon leaving a summer home at the end of the summer?
A. It is forbidden to do so, and if one does indeed remove Mezuzos, he places himself and his family in danger! (The Satmar Rebbe o.b.m. upon learning that one of his closest chasidim removed the Mezuzos from his summer home, immediately commanded the man to return to his summer home and reattach all the mezuzos, saying that every minute the mezuzos are not replaced he stands in a serious danger.)

Q. Is it necessary for just a few weeks in the country to purchase expensive kosher mezuzas?
A. Definitely so! For a mitzvah there is no difference whether it is for a minute or a year. What’s more, during those two months the mezuzos can protect you from many tragedies. If, however, you rent a house from a non-Jew for less than thirty days, you do not need a mezuzah.

Q. Should one who is strict in mitzvah observance spend up to $35.00 for a mezuzah?
A. For a mitzvah requirement there is no amount or price limit. The more spent, the more the reward, besides being that much more sure that they are truly kosher. For example, we spend a great deal of money for a beautiful Esrog which is used but six days. How much more should we spend for a mezuzah which is used all year round!

Q. How often must we examine Mezuzos and Tefillin?
A. At the very least, all Mezuzos and Tefillin must be examined twice in seven years. Those more exacting in their observance, examine them every year during the month of Elul.

Q. Are public places, such as school rooms, yeshivas, dormitories, hotels, medical offices etc. permitted to use the cheaper type of mezuzos?
A. Just the opposite! Such places where there are small children, or sick people, must have an added protection which can only be afforded by truly kosher Mezuzos.

Tragedies Caused by Unfit Mezuzos

Since the publishing of these bulletins on the importance of kosher mezuzos, many telephone calls and letters have been received describing stories and occurrences connected with mezuzos. Here are just a few of the many we have received:
1) A Jewish owned shop in Brooklyn was recently robbed at gun point in broad daylight. Two men held guns on the employees and thus made away with a large sum of money. After the incident, the store’s owner took down his small mezuzos and found one of them to be posul - unfit.
2) Two children of a very religious man became gravely ill. He checked the mezuzos on their bedroom and found them to be posul!
3) Many years ago, I was engaged in helping an elderly man who was paralyzed. One day, I overheard my father speaking about the mitzvah of Mezuzah and its importance as a safeguard against illness and other calamities. I immediately set about to check the mezuzos in the paralyzed man’s home. I found that a letter was entirely missing in the word “your rising up”. I bought a new mezuzah and attached it, and sure enough, within a short time the man was able to walk again!
4) The following is a letter I received from Rabbi M.Y. Blau of Verboy, an author of many distinguished Seforim:
Dear Rabbi Gross:

It was with great pleasure and interest that I have read your bulletins concerning Mezuzos. Upon reading your words, I was reminded of a story which involved my teacher Rav Yosef Tzvi Dushinsky obm.

Once, upon comforting parents who were mourning the death of their child, the Rov instructed one of his disciples to examine the mezuzah on the door of the room in which the child had passed away. To the shock and dismay of all, the mezuzah was found to be posul. A similar story happened here in Brooklyn a few years back. The Munkatcher Rov visited one of his chasidim who had lost his livelihood and was in poor health. He instructed the man to examine the mezuzahs and, indeed, one mezuzah was found to be posul. After changing the mezuzah, the man regained his health and livelihood. May Hashem increase your strength in your holy work for the mitzvah of mezuzah.

Rabbi M.Y. Blau

After receiving this letter, I called Rav Blau, who related three other interesting stories:
1) An observant young man was not blessed with children for many years. As he had moved into a new house, he bought all new expensive mezuzas and left the old mezuzos over in his old apartment. A short while later he was blessed with a child. Suddenly, one day, the man who took over his old apartment called him in a panic. He had let the mezuzos in the old apartment be examined and the word “your children” was entirely missing!
2) The second story involves a Jew by the name of Laslo Freund (who currently lives in Flatbush, Brooklyn and can verify this story). Mr. Freund had the opportunity in the year 1936 to buy a large store in the city of Pressburg. As was then the custom, before making so large a step, the man went to his Rebbe, Rav Isak of Spinka o.b.m. to ask his advice. The Rebbe, after learning the details, told him to buy the business, but first to attach kosher mezuzos to every door post. The business was in a shaky financial position, but since the Rebbe gave his advice, Mr. Freund was ready to buy. As the deal was closing, Mr. Freund said he must first go and affix Mezuzahs. The former owner, himself an Orthodox Jew and a scholar, laughed loudly saying:
   “What do you mean? Of course, I have mezuzahs on every door”.

The two of them went, and to their dismay, they found that not one door boasted a mezuzah!
The new owner attached kosher mezuzahs on every door, the business was pulled out of its financial crisis, and gave forth large profits until the outbreak of the war.

3) The third story occurred in Rov Blau’s own congregation. A religious young man was tragically taken from this world in his young years after a terrible illness. After the occurrence, Rav Blau instructed all his congregants to examine their mezuzahs. A short while later, the father of the young man came to Rav Blau and showed him the mezuzahs from his son’s home. They were posul, and one was even printed in English!

In conclusion, I wish to bring the words of the Taam HaZvi who wrote:

It is an accepted custom for one who is seriously ill, to have his mezuzahs examined. The Likutei Maharich writes that the tefillin of one who has passed away should be examined before being used.

Therefore, everyone should take warning and not look at price when it comes to purchasing mezuzos or tefillin. Through this merit, you will be protected from all troubles and tragedies, and be blessed with everything good. AMEN!

NEW FOR PESACH

Two vital new books dealing with matters that every Jew must know on Pesach:

(The Baking of Matzos)

1. The general concept of eating kosher matzos, especially as developed in Gaonic and Chasidic sources.
2. An encyclopedic compilation of all the laws involved in baking matzos, from cutting the grain until the final steps.
3. Gaonic and Chasidic customs involving baking and preparing matzos.

ACHILAS MATZOS BE-VISROEL (Eating Matzos)

The laws of eating matzos, from the Seder night until the end of Pesach. Also a discussion of eating wetted matzah (gebrokts). Many stories of Chasidic origin regarding matzos presented in a separate section. Another section discusses the questions of the kashruth of medicines on Pesach, as well as all year round (in English). The work concludes with a survey of all the pertinent laws of Pesach as taught by Rabbi Moshe Stern (the Debreciner Rav).

At all Jewish stores: $9.50 for the set. For mail order, add $1.50 for postage and handling.

CHAPTER 15
The Duty to Admonish and Protest - Quotations from Talmud, Zohar, and Midrash

1) Anyone capable of admonishing reproaching or rebuking members of his household and does not do so: is punished and considered culpable for the sins of the members of his household; against the people of his city, is punished for the sins of the people of his city, against the entire world, is punished for the sins of the of the entire world (Shabbos 54b)

2) Since Phinechas should have protested against Hophni, Scripture considers it as though he had sinned (Shabbos 55b)

3) One who has the ability to admonish and protest and does not, the sin is ascribed to him (Yerushalmi Shabbos ch. 5).

4) Because of four things, the property of householders is usurped by the government, (one of which is) because they have the ability to protest and do not do so (Sukkah 29b)

5) Silence is a symbol of acquiescence: Since the Rabbis were present and did not protest, this indicates that they agreed. (Gittin 56a)

6) Abner was punished (by being killed) because he should have protested against Saul, and did not do so. (Sanhedrin 20a)

7) Joshua the high priest wore soiled garments because his sons married women unfit for the priesthood, and he did not protest against them (Sanhedrin 93a)
8) Concerning Zedekiah it is written (II Kings 24:19): And he did what was evil in the eyes of the L-rd,. The evil is attributed to him because he was able to protest and did not (Sanhedrin 103a)

9) If a person learned, taught, observed, (negative commandments), and performed (positive commandments), but did not protest, he is deemed cursed. On the other hand, if a person did not learn, did not perform (positive commandments), did not observe (negative commandments), did not teach others, and did not have the ability to protest, yet he protested, he is deemed blessed. (Vayikra Rabbah 25)

10) The Holy One, Blessed be He, said (to the Divine Attribute of Justice): “These are completely righteous men, and these are completely wicked ones.” He replied: “It is fully revealed to me that they had the ability to protest, but did not do so.” He responded: “It is fully known to Me that if they had protested, they would not have heeded them.” He retorted: “If it is fully known to You, is it fully known to them?” They, therefore, should have protested and allowed themselves to be humiliated for the sanctity of Your Name, and to suffer beatings from the Jews. (Tanhuma Tazria 9)

11) “Take all the leaders of the people and hang them. (Num. 25:4)” The sins were attributed to the leaders of the people because they did not protest against the people. (Tanhuma Balak 19)

12) Who was responsible for the deaths of all those killed in the civil war against Benjamin because of the killing of the concubine in Gibeah of Benjamin?) Phinechas!, Because he had the power to protest and did not protest. We learn from this that anyone who has the power to protest and does neither protest, or attempt to bring the Jews to improve their ways, all blood that is shed among the Jews, is shed because of him. (Yalkut Judges 68)
13) The great Sanhedrin should have tied iron ropes around their waists and lifted their cloths above their knees and gone throughout all the cities of Israel, one day to Lachish, one day to Eglon, one day to Hebron, one day to Jerusalem, to teach them proper manners. (ibid)

14) Jerusalem was destroyed only because they did not admonish one another. (Shabbos 119)

15) If a Rabbinical scholar is loved by the people of his city, it is not because he is superior, but because he does not admonish them concerning matters of Heaven. (Kethuboth 105b)

16) When the footsteps of the Messiah will be heard, there will be no admonition. (Sotah 49a)

17) Because of what did Jeroboam merit the kingdom? Because he castigated Solomon. (Sanhedrin 101b)

18) One should love admonition, for as long as there is admonition in the world, goodness and blessing come to the world, and evil departs from the world. (Tamid 28a)

19) Everyone who admonishes his friend for the sake of Heaven, merits the portion of the Holy One, Blessed be He; moreover, a mantle of grace is drawn over him. (Tamid 28)

20) Anyone who knows how to admonish and admonishes the public, brings content to his Creator. (Tana d'ye Eliyahu Rabba 3)

21) One who knows that his fellow man is wicked, yet he flatters him, or if he knows that his colleague is full of sins, yet he says to him, "You are righteous," deserves that all the curses in the Torah come upon him. However, one who admonishes his colleague that he repent, takes the blessings of the one who is admonished. If he accepts the admonition and repents then, he too, receives blessings. (Yalkut Devarim 793)

22) Is there any man who hates his son? However, if he does not admonish him concerning Torah, wisdom, and proper manner, he will eventually hate him. If he admonishes him, however, he will eventually love him. (Yalkut Proverbs 950)

23) The Divine Attribute of Justice rose and said before G-d: Even on the righteous among them, You shall write on their foreheads a Tav of blood, Tav standing for Tamuth, you shall die. The Holy One, Blessed be He, replied and said: “Why?” She answered, “Because they did not reproach your children with words of admonition, and they did not instruct them not to sin.” The Holy One, replied, “It is revealed before me that if they had admonished them, they would not have listened”. The Attribute of Justice replied, “Even though they would not have accepted, nevertheless, the righteous should have rebuked them”. The Holy One acceded and proceeded to treat the righteous of that generation in Jerusalem as wrongdoers. Six angels of destruction were dispensed to Jerusalem and they devastated it (The Letters of R’ Akiva).

24) Whoever is able to admonish and does not do so is stricken with tzaraas. (Zohar Part III part 45b)

25) The righteous man is conscientious to go to the wrongdoers to help them turn away from their sins. He informs them of the heavenly judgment and the punishment of Gehinom. He does not allow himself to rest day or night until he has rebuked them and brought them to full repentance. (Zohar Pg. 20b)

26) All Jews are responsible for each other. (Shevuos 39a)

27) Even the perfectly righteous are held responsible for the sins of their generation ... for not rebuking the wicked. (Midrash Tanchuma Mishpatim)

28) Some sins are so great that those who commit them are not afforded Divine assistance to repent. Included among them is one who was able to rebuke others, be it a group or individuals, and did not do so but left them in their backsliding. (Rambam Hilchos Tshuva 4:1)
29) It is a Jew's duty to protest against sinners. Anyone who has the ability to protest, and does not do so, is held responsible for that sin. (Remah Yore Deah 334:48)

30) Evil decrees fall only upon those who could have protested and did not. (Yalkut Ruth on the verse, "And Elimelech died...")

31) Anyone who says that Solomon actually sinned is in error. The sages ask: But it is written, "and Solomon sinned.."? They answer: Because he should have reprimanded his wives and did not, scripture considers it as if he actually sinned. Rabbi Yehuda says in the name of Shmuel that Solomon would have preferred to be a lackey to a foreign rater rather than have it be written in Scriptures that he sinned. Rashi explains the Gemorah to mean that he would rather have suffered indenture to chop wood and draw water for idol worship. This teaches us how severe the rebuke is for one that could have protested and did not. (Shabbos 56b)

32) The reason that the people in the civil war against Gibeah died was: Hashem said to them, "For My honor you did not protest, but for the honor of mortals you do protest!". (Sanhedrin 103b)

33) The verse "and I shall destroy from amongst you the righteous and the wicked," refers to the righteous who are imperfect. Since they were able to protest and did not, they are considered imperfect. (Avoda Zara 4a)

34) Aaron did not protest when Moses hit the rock at Mei Meriva for he considered himself as Moses' disciple. However, one need not give honor to a teacher when there is a profanation of the Divine Name. Because he did not protest, he was punished in the same way as Moses. (Midrash Tanchuma, Chukas)

35) From the incident of Pinchas one should learn to be zealous for Hashem when there is a profanation of the Divine Name of the Torah. The importance of this is shown by the gratitude and good favor through which Hashem gave the priestly covenant of peace to Pinchas. (Shelah Hakodesh, Ten Praises)

36) It is written (Midrash Tanchuma, Re'ei) that many upright people lived in Noah's generation but, nevertheless, perished with the others. The reason they perished is that they did not protest the wrongdoings of the others, unlike Noah who did protest. (The Chida, Chomas Anach, Parshas Noah)

37) One who does not oppose those who persist in their evil ways is punished for all their sins. Furthermore, he transgresses the negative command, "You shall not bear his sin ..." It is obligatory upon every G-d fearing and G-d loving person and those of pure heart to arouse zeal ... (Sha'arei T'shuvah, Sha'ar 3:59)

38) The Remah states that in our times we do not protest against wrongdoers because of the danger involved (Yoreh Deah 334, Choshen Mishpat 12) quoting the Responsa of the MaHariv 157 The Bechor Shor (quoted in the Piskei T'shuvah) says that many, basing their actions upon this decision, justify themselves in flattering influential people even though there is no certain danger. This rationalization, which has weakened the Torah, is a blatant mistake, in that the MaHariv's opinion was stated only in an instance when there is certain danger. Were this not so, then the precept, "Thou shalt not fear a man," would become null and void. Certainly the intent of this precept was directed to a situation in which there is a reason for fear. And, yet we are instructed you shall not fear!

A judge who is appointe . to punish wrongdoers and fulfills this precept, will merit the reward of Pinchas, the zealous, and no evil will befall him.

39) Do not envy wrongdoers, for anyone who sees their actions and does not arouse zeal transgresses three negative commands. For this reason a man should sever relations with them and have a separate way from them (Zohar I pg. 239b).
"Gentlemen! I have warned, reprimanded and admonished you time and again. I cited statements from the Talmud and Midrash how important it is to answer, 'Amen.' For neglecting to do so, one is cast into the deepest place in Gehinnom forever. After 120 years, you will not be able to blame me as your Rabbi, because I did not warn you enough. I spend much time and energy every service, three times a day, to arouse you strictly to observe these laws.

Therefore, if you do not repent, and promise to abruptly STOP from this evil practice of speaking during "Kaddish" and the repetition of the "Sh'moneh Esray", you yourselves will suffer from this bitter punishment, and I will not be blamed.
40) The Angel of Death does not have the same power over a man who is zealous for Hashem as he has over other men. (Zohar 29b)

41) Anyone who is able to protest and does so, thereby avenging Hashem from the wicked of this world, Hashem seals a covenant with him and his seed, just as He did with Pinchas. (Reishis Chochma, Sha'ar HaYirah, ch. 12)

42) If even a minor sin receives public and juridical acceptance, this is the product of corruptness and an unpardonable sin; and furthermore, the entire people are held guilty. Forgiveness is possible only after a punishment has been executed upon the entire nation. This was the sin of Sodom. (HaAkeida 20)

43) Because they did not protest against evildoers, the future generations learned from their bad ways. (Rashi Sotah 41b)

44) It is clearly derived from both the Oral and Written law that one who can protest and does not do so, is held responsible for that sin and for neglecting a positive commandment. Furthermore, he is considered in the category of the wicked. (Chinuch Mitzvah 239)

45) The judges of Israel are responsible for the sins of their people. (Yalkut Yechezkel 341)

46) It is written "Ben Adam: A sentinel have I appointed you for the Family of Israel and you have heard the word of My mouth .. but you did not speak up to warn the wicked one concerning his evil way to save his life. He, the wicked one, shall die for his sin, and I shall demand his blood from you. Yechezkel 3:17,"

47) It is possible that Moses, assured of the righteousness of his brother Aaron, knew that Aaron's intention in making the golden calf was not evil. However, he accused him for the evil-doing of the people. Since their downfall came through him, he was deserving of rebuke. (*Rambam, Ki Sisa)

48) Why do many Torah scholars die young? The answer is: they allow themselves to be disgraced, for they do not avenge like a snake the words of Torah and the fear of Heaven. (Avos of R’Nasson, ch. 29)

49) There were great men of Israel who saw evil and looked the other way. The Holy One remarked to them, “There will come a time when I will do likewise.” (Midrash Rabbah, Lamentations).

50) In summary, I would like to cite that which R’ Chaim Sofer writes in his illustrious work, Sha’arei Chaim (6a):

“Woe to us from the day of Judgment; Woe to us from the Day of Rebuke, when the time comes for Hashem to search through the action of every living being and it will be found written: This righteous man desecrated the Sabbath; this pious man transgressed the prohibition of Niddah; this G-d fearing man transgressed the prohibition against eating non-Kosher food and wearing shatnes; this holy man is guilty of having relations with a married woman. All believers will be astonished and wonder at the sins attributed to these pious men, for these men were part of a generation of righteous. But Hashem will reply in wrath, “Behold, it was in your power to rebuke such and such a wicked man. Why did you not remember him and remind him of his sin?

It is quite evident that those who have the capability to rebuke and admonish their fellow man are required to do so. Hesitation or neglect of this requirement is calamitous; perserverence and meticulous fulfillment of this responsibility accrues abundance of blessings.
